4th Sunday in Ordinary Time

The Church accompanies us on our journey through life, through the seasons of the year and within the changing circumstances of our daily lives. The following themes can serve as a guide along this path. They can be used individually, as a family or in groups.

Remember: How do you cope with the stresses and strains of time? Do you try to avoid certain situations or people you know will be stressful? Do you ever find you have to "put on a show" so it doesn't appear you are stressing out? Do you manage stress by physical exercise, sleep, getting angry, vacations and breaks, withdrawing, seeking out friends or strangers, internet and social media, prayer?

Read: Mark 1:29-39-28

Reflect: Christ seems to have been both perfectly extroverted and perfectly introverted. He was homeschooled and grew up in a small village but wasn't afraid of losing himself as a young boy in the crowds of Jerusalem. He enjoyed telling stories to huge crowds and the characters he painted demonstrated he knew the inner motives, fears and joys of the human heart. He gathered around him a company of close friends but also took himself away to the solitude of the desert and the mountains.

Review: From the perspective of Christ, what do you think tired him the most? 1. All the crowds of people? 2. Not getting enough sleep at night? 3. Always having to adapt to changing situations? 4. Times alone in prayer? 5. Finding ways to respond to the needs of others?

Respond: From your own perspective, how can you best balance your inner life with the demands of the world? 1. I need to keep a daily pattern of prayer 2. I should not be afraid of unplugging myself (and my devices!) from the world. 3. I should trust more my spouse, closest friend, confessor or counselor. 4. I can see my daily work as a vocation from God. 5. Everyone I meet has been sent to me by God.
