

ATTENTION:

Extra-Ordinary Ministers of the Eucharist

It is time to renew your training. This is an important part of your ministry to our parish and this training is required by the Archdiocese. Training classes will be on two Saturdays: the first Saturday will be November 10, 2018; the second will be December 8, 2018 both sessions will start at 9AM and be completed by 1130AM. The sessions will be held at Saint Martha's in the Church. Please be mindful these training sessions are mandatory for you to maintain your ministry. We look forward to seeing you there.

Note: Any one delegated from 2013-2017 must be redelegated in 2018 per the Archdiocese.

We give thanks to God for the wonderful volunteers who donated their time working, money, candy and food that helped make St. Martha's Trick or Trunk a fun-filled success! The Trick or Treaters were adorable and car trunks were filled with candy!

FLORIDA NEEDS HELP

Hurricane Michael Relief

Hurricane Michael has left families in the panhandle of Florida homeless and without the basics of food and water. In the popular vacation community of Panama City, there is still no electricity or water in the community. While many of the reports are focused on the beaches and beach communities, there is great need inland where there are residents and a higher level of poverty. We in the Archdiocese of New Orleans know the impact of generosity in storm recovery. The following are some ways we can help the people of the Florida Panhandle:

- Catholic Charities of Northwest Florida has set up a website that lists the needs of the area as well as volunteer opportunities. They estimate they will need 75 volunteers, 7 days a week for several months to work in recovery. For those wanting to help, go to <https://ccnwfl.org/> to find out what collections are being accepted and how to sign-up to volunteer.
- For anyone with family or who know of families or individuals that have been displaced by Hurricane Michael and are now in New Orleans, Catholic Charities case managers are available to help. Please call (504) 227-3440.
- Those wanting to send a monetary donation to assist in the recovery may send a check for Hurricane Michael Relief to the Archdiocese of New Orleans, 7887 Walmley Ave., New Orleans, LA 70125.
