Twenty-Eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time

October 13, 2019

“Stand up and go; your faith has saved you.”

Gospel: Luke 17:11-19

The proper response to God is worship – in gratitude and faith.

In two readings today, people are cured of their leprosy – Naaman by the prophet Elisha and 10 people, including a Samaritan, by Jesus. In these healings, the people are restored to physical and communal life – renewed in health and re-established in a society that had kept them separate for fear of contagion.

In each reading, there is a response to this healing. Naaman expresses gratitude to Elisha and asks for two mule-loads of earth so that he can offer his sacrifices to the God of Elisha rather than his own god. The Samaritan, the only one of the 10 who appears to realize that he has been cured, returns to Jesus and glorifies God. In both cases, faith had saved them and had prompted the proper response.

Jesus, the eternal Word of God, is still healing us today. If we turn to Jesus in trust, he can cleanse us of the most basic of all human ailments – sin. Jesus, the Word of God, is unchained, as Saint Paul writes to Timothy. He remains faithful to those who are faithful. And we, who have died to sin with him in baptism, shall also live with him. This gift of life, of restoring us to communion with God, is one available to use in faith. When accepted in faith, the only proper response is worship.

The more we respond in faith and in worship, the greater the graces, and the easier and more joyful is our relationship with the Triune God – who desires nothing more than for us to spend eternity with him. May those graces continue to transform us and bring us ever closer to him.

New Confession Time: Saturdays; 5:00 to 6:00 pm.
