Interpreting Christ’s Teachings Today

This passage of Acts shows us something about the early Church that we often overlook. Paul, Silas, and the other apostles felt a responsibility to preserve the true doctrine passed on to them. When they understood that certain Christians were teaching demands that didn’t come from the Holy Spirit, they corrected that doctrine by sending a letter and endorsing the true interpretation.

Even in the earliest Church, there was an evolving hierarchy that interpreted what was God’s will for the Christian community. This charism of the proper interpretation of Christ’s teaching continues in today’s Catholic Church through the pope and the bishops.

Jesus declared to the apostles at the Last Supper that the Holy Spirit would remind them of all he told them. Jesus gave this gift to the Church, and it’s something we should value. How often do we do an internet search about a subject and then trust what a few articles say? Yet, are we as quick to look up what the Holy Father and the bishops say on different subjects in order to be guided by that light?

We are not sheep without a shepherd. We have bishops and priests who preach the word of God and lead us toward the truth. When the bishops, in communion with the Holy Father, exercise their ordinary teaching office (magisterium), they help us to better understand God’s revelation in faith and morals. This is the way the early Church developed and the way the Church still lives today.

—Fr. Mark Haydu, LC

[Jesus said,] “The holy Spirit that the Father will send in my name—he will teach you everything and remind you of all that [I] told you.”

John 14:26

For Reflection

Do I make an effort to know what the pope or my bishop is teaching?

When faced with moral decisions, do I research what the Church has to say?

We are not sheep without a shepherd. We have bishops and priests who preach the word of God and lead us toward the truth. Dear Padre,

Why is celibacy mandatory for Catholic priests?

Some propose making celibacy optional. For some priests it’s too heavy a burden. They contend that, if made optional, it could attract more men to the priesthood, especially during a time of priest shortages. After all, celibacy isn’t essential to the ordained ministry. During the first millennium, many priests, and even bishops, were married.

Jesus himself is the basis for priestly celibacy. His celibacy was a radical expression of his commitment to work for the kingdom. Instead of marrying and raising a family, he dedicated his life to raising up a community that would become God’s family—interrelated not by blood, but by one faith, baptism, and Spirit.

Celibacy isn’t an end unto itself but a gift for attaining an end—service to God’s kingdom. Instead of raising biological families, priests form a larger family—the spiritual family of the Church at the parish level.

Instead of fathering a few children, they become spiritual fathers to the flock that Christ entrusts to them. Hence, priests are addressed as “Father.”

“Celibacy is a sign of this new life to the service of which the Church’s minister is consecrated; accepted with a joyous heart celibacy proclaims the reign of God” (Catechism of the Catholic Church, 1579).

Priests must always remember their vows: to dedicate their whole lives to God and the kingdom, to forego marriage and family so they can build up the spiritual family of God that is the Church.

A Word from Pope Francis

Our ideal is not to live without love! A good pastor renounces the love of a family precisely in order to focus all his energies, and the grace of his particular vocation, on the evangelical blessing of the love of men and women who carry forward God’s plan of creation.

Green Corner

The benefits of home gardening:

- Fresh from your garden fruits & veggies are higher in nutritional value than ones traveling thousands of miles.
- You control what goes in your soil, not big Ag.
- Family involvement will increase the chances of them trying new fruits & veggies that they have helped grow.
- It’s a form of exercise.
- Stress reducing.
- Gets all involved off of electronic devices.
- Teaches responsibility for caring for something.
- Helps to teach appreciation for nature and to see things grow.
- And pulls carbon out of the atmosphere, just to name a few!

Goal:

Ask your helpers to choose veggies, herbs, flowers or fruit trees to grow in a pot, in the ground or build a raised bed together. Google ideas or visit the “Children’s Garden” behind the “blue” house to see some options. This is the perfect time and you can garden all year long! If you want to get stated but not sure how email me at allsaintsgreeninitiative@gmail.com. Happy gardening!
