THEME: IN MEMORY

Before he gave his body and blood on the cross for the salvation of the whole world, Jesus gave his body and blood to his disciples in the form of bread and wine, instructing them to continue this practice in memory of him. Jesus provides food and drink to sustain us, taking it one step further by transforming it to his own Body and Blood. May the Eucharist we share today strengthen and enliven us as we bring Jesus with us to the world.

Deuteronomy 8:2-3 We live on every word that comes from the mouth of God.
1 Corinthians 10:16-17 The cup we bless and the bread we break are a participation in the body of Christ.
John 6:51-58 Jesus is the living bread come down from heaven.

HOLY COMMUNION

In the Eucharist, after the sacrifice itself is completed, we have the unspeakable privilege of receiving the flesh and blood of the Divine Victim, who is not dead, but living, and comes to give life in abundance to our souls.

This Holy Communion, if we are rightly disposed, produces an increase in sanctifying grace — the ability to take in the vision of God in the life to come — plus a special claim to actual graces as needed, forgiveness of venial sin for which one is repentant, help to keep from mortal sin, and an increase in the virtue of love.

We must of course have the state of grace. Without it, it would be sacrilege, and an added mortal sin to receive. Right intention is also needed, i.e., to please God, to be more closely united with Him, to gain a remedy for our weaknesses.

It is not required to be free from all venial sin. The reception itself may forgive venial sins for which one is sorry. But the fruits of receiving are reduced. It is especially needed that one be free from all deliberate venial sin — in contrast to sins of weakness, sins when one is taken off guard.

For fullest benefits, we should be free from all attachment to anything sinful. Some have as if it were a gap in their purpose of amendment, as if they said, for example: “I do not intend to commit mortal sins, nor all venial sins. But there are some reservations: if it is hard to stick to the truth, I will not do so, or if it is hard to keep a conversation going without a bit of detraction, that is all right too. These dispositions, sometimes called “affection to venial sin” impose as if it were a clamp on one’s heart, for he/she has decided to go so far and no farther. So they effectively prevent spiritual growth beyond a certain point. How sad that many who could grow much, block growth by this means.

To prepare, one should think in advance about what he/she is going to do, especially during the Mass. After receiving, it is valuable to try for recollection, in humility to adore the Lord present we adore the Lord present within us, to give thanks, to express sorrow for deficiencies, to ask for help to do better. It is very good to stay a few minutes after the end of the Mass to continue this thanksgiving.

The Eucharistic fast has now been reduced to one hour — abstaining from food and drink (except water). This time is computed up to the actual time of reception. The sick, even if not confined to bed, and those actually engaged in caring for them at the time, need not observe any period of fasting. The same applies to the elderly, according to the new Code of Canon Law #919.3.

Pastors should see to it that the sick can receive at times. Those who are in danger of death are obliged to receive the Sacred Host as Viaticum, which means provision for the journey — into the next life.

The present law allows quite a few occasions when the Holy Eucharist may be received under both species. However, Christ is received whole and entire under one form only, for He dies no more: body and blood are never separated.

When actual reception is not possible, one may profitably make a spiritual communion, by a fervent desire to receive sacramentally. This keeps the soul united with Jesus during the day, and prepare better for the actual reception.

EDUCATIONAL CORNER

Six Ways I Can Make My Parish Better

1. Think of yourself as part of a parish family. Family members share a common heritage and history. They are grounded in the same beliefs, values, and traditions. They embrace new members of the family with a spirit of love and acceptance. Family members don’t always agree, but they do feel a strong commitment to one another and to the family as a whole.

CHURCH NEWS

Morning Mass will now be celebrated at Holy Spirit and Immaculate Conception Churches at their regular 8:30 AM schedule in the Church. Communion Services will also be held at 8:30 AM in BOTH Churches. In order to keep everyone safe, please note the following guidelines as recommended by the CDC:

- Masks required
- Observe social distancing
- Please use hand sanitizer when entering the Church
- Use only designated pews and keep 6 feet apart
