

Deacon's Beacons

May 5, 2020

“But it shall not be so among you. But whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be slave of all. For even the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.”
Mark 10:43–45

This is what we need in the world. The willingness to be a servant is at the very center of what would turn society around. Maybe we are seeing some of that emerge during this pandemic. Maybe people are really understanding that we can all get along and help each other. Maybe we can rid the world of the idea that, to get ahead, you must have someone else lose. No, we can all get ahead together and help each other. That is what it means to be in relationship. Being a servant is not demeaning oneself. It is raising up the other.

Resurrexit sicut dixit!

Go raibh síocháin Chríost a bheith in éineacht leat.

Deacon Mike