Better is the end of a thing than its beginning, and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit. Ecclesiastes 7:8

It always feel good to complete a project or some job. So will it not feel good when you finally do rest from this project that we call "life?" Not meaning that anyone of us wants to rush it. But at times life can be wearisome. And patience? In this world of microwaves, high speed internet and content on demand, I think that we have lost sight that patience is in fact a virtue. Slow down. If you really are not in a hurry to reach the point of leaving this world, why are you rushing through everything in between? With patience come endurance. And with patience comes time for prayer and community with God.

Go raibh síocháin Chríost a bheith in éineacht leat.
