“Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? And not one of them is forgotten before God. Why, even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not; you are of more value than many sparrows.” Luke 12:6–7

Fr. Tony always joked that this was much easier for God in my case. The point of the passage is that each and every one of us is important and precious to God. All creation is. Scripture tells us that we are the height of creation. All of us. Not just some of us. Not just those who look like you. Not just those who think like you. Not just those who vote like you. Each and every person deserves the respect that is inherent in their human dignity. If God cares about sparrows, do you not think He will notice when we do not respect each other?
