

Deacon's Beacons

March 25, 2021

Rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say, rejoice. Philippians 4:4

Sometimes it just does not seem appropriate to rejoice. Maybe someone you loved has died. Maybe someone you care about is critically ill. You want to rail against God and against the unfairness of it all. That is perfectly human. But at the same time, we have to consider why we are feeling this way. Mostly it is because that person means a great deal to us. So, in the midst of our sorrow, we also need to rejoice for the gift of having known that person. Think about the good things that God has given you, most particularly when times seem the darkest.

Go raibh síocháin Chríost a bheith in éineacht leat.
