Third Sunday of Easter

Even though it's nowhere in Scripture, tradition says that Peter, when an old man, was dragged away and crucified. Because he did not feel worthy to receive the same death as his Lord, Peter asked to be crucified upside down. Scripture never tells us where or when this took place, but the author of John's gospel certainly knows about it, because he says that Jesus's words to Peter---the day will come when you will be led where you do not want to go--- signified by what kind of death Peter would glorify God.

Peter was probably martyred by Emperor Nero in Rome in the mid-60s, AD. The origin of the tradition of him being crucified upside down is unknown. But his death HAS glorified God, hasn't it, all these centuries? Hasn't the image of Peter begging to endure a more humiliating death than even Jesus endured been a source of inspiration and strength to you from the day you first heard it?

We don't have to dance around the facts of the resurrection. The eyewitnesses to the empty tomb, and to the Risen One, didn't say things like, "Well, he's risen in our hearts," or "We feel his Spirit and are strengthened." That would never be enough to ask your executioners to nail you to a cross upside down.

Peter and all the martyred ones went to their deaths utterly positive that the grave that held Jesus was empty, and that Christ would raise them up with him. The witness---that's another word for "martyr"--- of those first believers rings out throughout the ages: He is Risen, and our lives and deaths are meant to give glory to that Name.

What deaths have you witnessed that give glory to God?

Domingo de la Divina Misericordia

Este domingo es cuando más me gusta recordar todas las misericordias que ha tenido Dios hacia mí durante el año pasado. Permíteme invitarte a una meditación similar.

Haz memoria, ¿qué victorias has logrado al controlar tu temperamento, al controlar tu lengua, al evitar presumir de sabelotodo frente a alguien? Eso fue misericordia.

Bienaventurados aquellos a los que no se les han dicho palabras desagradables; pero más bienaventurados aún son aquellos los cuales no han dicho palabras desagradables a los demás.

¿Cuáles retos físicos has superado este año? ¿Tuviste alguna caída o caíste en cama a causa de alguna terrible gripe, o tal vez los resfríos de la temporada, o inclusive una pulmonía? Que bienaventurados son aquellos los que estuvieron enfermos y ahora están saludables. Y aún más bienaventurados aquellos que permanecieron a tu lado, cuidándote, dándote auxilio como médicos privados hasta que te recuperaste. Ellos mostraron misericordia, y misericordia recibirán.

¿Y qué tal tu vida de oración? ¿Experimentaste el consuelo y la compañía del Espíritu Santo al adentrarte en la profundidad de la vida de Cristo en ti? Tal vez fuiste acogido y bienvenido por una comunidad de fe. Por esa misericordia, en el invierno y la primavera de tus días en este año, siéntete agradecido. Aún más bienaventurados son aquellos que te ofrecieron esa amistad y gracia.

Yo conozco un tanto acerca de la misericordia, porque soy receptora infinita de ella. En este Domingo de la Divina Misericordia, te ofrezco esta sugerencia. Encuentra la imagen de la Divina Misericordia. Colócate ante su presencia. Imagínate los rayos sanadores que brotan del corazón de Jesús y van directamente a esa parte de tu cuerpo y mente que te lastima. Permite que los rayos entren. La misericordia del Resucitado ahora derramarse dentro de ti.

Jesús, en ti confiamos.

¿Cómo puede transformarte este año la Misericordia de Jesús?
