Advent is Coming! Advent is Coming! And to prepare, you will find more materials in the gathering area to take home with you in order to be ready for this glorious season that invites us to welcome the Christ into human history.

Wishing everyone a restful and happy time with family and friends this Thanksgiving. Be sure to take a bit of time to find a few words to thank God for his goodness and enjoy your time together. If you'd like to join us before the day gets too hectic, we will have Mass at 7:30am. It's early, but you take a nap after the tryptophan meal of turkey and mashed potatoes.

The Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe

I love watching people do that for which they were born, that for which they came into the world. You know it when you see it, don't you? This morning I witnessed twenty ADORABLE young children march into the sanctuary to display the drawings they created from the story-time they had just enjoyed.

THIS, I thought! For THIS we were created, to be ever joyous in our sharing of the story of Jesus. Oh, that each of us would have that childlike delight in telling others about Jesus our entire lives. I count it as the greatest blessing that I have been allowed to do this since my early teens.

What a thrill it is to watch a great pianist sit down and play a great work of art. The music lives in the muscle memory of the pianist, who has given up so many other loves in order to have this one. That's true of all people who bring beauty and grace to the world.

I especially love to watch teachers of the young children who, right about this time of year, are starting to "get it." These delighted children are sitting in hallways, sitting in tiny chairs with other tiny friends, and they are READING. They are making that most sacred connection between letters and REAL WORDS! And their teachers---blessed be they---are grinning and nodding and saying YES! YES!

For this moment those dear teachers were born. For this they came into the world.

On this great Solemnity, consider that all the baptized are to be teachers. Like children, we carry our own drawings of Jesus into the world. We were born to testify to the Truth.

When do you feel most closely aligned with that which you were born to do?

Solemnidad de Nuestro Señor Jesucristo, Rey del Universo

Me encanta ver a la gente haciendo aquello para lo que nacieron, aquello para lo que fueron creados. Lo sabes cuando lo ves, ¿no es así? Esta mañana fui testigo de la marcha de veinte niños ADORABLES hacia el santuario para mostrar los dibujos que hicieron durante la hora de cuentos que acababan de disfrutar.

¡ESTO ES, pensé! Para ESTO fuimos creados, para sentir siempre mucho gozo en compartir la historia de Jesús. Oh, que cada uno de nosotros tenga siempre ese deleite infantil al contarle a otros acerca de Jesús durante toda nuestra vida. Considero que ha sido la mayor bendición que se me haya permitido hacer esto desde mi adolescencia.

Qué emocionante es ver a un gran pianista sentarse y tocar una gran obra de arte. La música vive en la memoria muscular del pianista, que ha renunciado a tantos otros amores para tener este. Eso es cierto para todas las personas que aportan belleza y gracia al mundo.

En especial, me encanta ver a los maestros de niños pequeños que, en esta época del año, están empezando a "captar las cosas". Estos niños encantados están sentados en los pasillos, sentados en sillas diminutas con otros pequeños amigos, y están LEYENDO. ¡Están haciendo la conexión más sagrada entre letras y PALABRAS REALES! Y sus maestros --- benditos sean --- están sonriendo y asintiendo con la cabeza y diciendo ¡Sí! ¡Sí!

Para este momento nacieron esos queridos maestros. Por eso vinieron al mundo.

En esta gran solemnidad, consideren que todos los bautizados deben ser maestros. Como niños, llevamos nuestros propios dibujos de Jesús al mundo. Nacimos para testificar la Verdad.

¿Cuándo te sientes que estás más cerca de hacer aquello para lo que naciste?
