FROM THE ADMINISTRATOR

St. John of God

I continue a three-week series of pastoral descriptions of the RockKenRo parishes. My thanks to: (a) advisory councils who edited the documents, (b) Amy Maxin & Dan Skantar who wrote first drafts, (c) interviewers Tom Adams, Sharon Cercone, Rich Gennuso, Dave Hess, Sandy Horgan, Pat Joyce, Wayne Madden, Barbara Marshall, Lisa Polar, Donna Spohn, Claudia Van, Bob Waruszewski, Mary Weibel, and Lisa Worms; and (d) the many who sacrificed their time and candor in order to be interviewed. I publish St. John of God's today because it coincides with the parish assemblies there this Saturday, September 21, at 5:45 and Sunday, September 22, at 11:00. Subsequent assemblies will take place at Holy Trinity Parish on September 28 at 6:15 and September 29 at 1:15. If you can't make it to the parish assemblies, you can view the on-line version by visiting the consolidation section of the website www.RockKenRoCatholics.org.

—Fr. Dave

St. John of God is a classic "legacy parish," comprising members of seven predecessor parishes in the Sto-Rox area. Almost all parishioners remain conscious of themselves as affiliating through those bygone institutions: You might consider them "legacy parishioners."

Active participants at St. John of God tend to be elderly. Many retain positive memories of the Pittsburgh area's industrial peak, when mostly Catholic laborers lived in densely packed ethnic neighborhoods and affiliated with the church to which their ethnicity was assigned. They then saw the near-disappearance of heavy industry and the dispersal of their neighbors to the suburbs and across the United States.

The faithful who remain survived the Church consolidations in the early 1990s. Some look ahead to future consolidations with the confidence justified by their past resilience. Others anticipate a repeat of the grief of the 1990s and perhaps try to minimize it by speaking as if a decision has already been made to close their two remaining churches, Mother of Sorrows and St. Mary, Help of Christians.

A smaller number of younger parishioners may be the children and grandchildren of these legacy parishioners. Others may be perceived as transitional residents: Youngish couples and families accumulating equity in their properties but with plans to move elsewhere.

Like all Catholics, St. John of God parishioners are grateful for the sacraments, especially Holy Communion, their choir, and the priests' homilies. They perceive themselves as people of deep faith and reverence. More than others at RockKenRo, they speak appreciatively of the priests who have led the community, especially Fr. Regis Ryan—arguably a "legacy pastor"—and Fr. Lou Vallone. Fr. Ryan is credited as key to parishioners' sense of their mutual fellowship and pride in their family and parish history.

Many of the faithful at St. John of God believe they've gone "as far as they can go," and understand themselves as waiting with patient acceptance for the closure of either their lives or their churches, or both. Others remain eager to establish that they still have a contribution to make to the local Church through prayer, example, forgiveness, and participation in shared ministries.

Most remain committed to their church, community, and service. They cherish the relationships they have forged over the decades. They feel loved and welcomed at their church, and they hope that sense of deeply rooted belonging can continue into the next era. They are eager to sustain a Catholic, Christian presence in the Sto-Rox community, and to find some way of passing their faith on to the next generation. Some remain open to the possibility that the imminent restructuring of parishes, staffs, ministry, or all three will help them fulfill their hopes.

Farewell & Welcome!

Effective October 7, 2019, our own Fr. Bob Zajdel has been given permission to enter retirement and to take up residence at St. John Vianney Manor, Pittsburgh's retirement home for priests. Bishop Zubik writes, "For forty years, you [Fr. Bob] have faithfully and zealously served Christ as a priest of the Church of Pittsburgh. Your willingness to accept many different assignments is a testimony over the years to your pastoral concern and love for the Church. I take this occasion to express to you on behalf of the Church of Pittsburgh my profound gratitude for your priestly example and ministry."

Continued....

Farewell & Welcome!

I join Bp. Zubik in thanking Fr. Bob for his ministry and fraternity these past eleven months. I've adjusted the Mass schedule so that Fr. Bob's last Masses as an active priest can take place at St. Mary, Help of Christians, October 5 and 6. Please consider attending one of the Masses at St. Mary that weekend in order to thank Fr. Bob for his service.

Meanwhile, Fr. Sam Esposito joins the clergy team as senior parochial vicar at RockKenRo on the same day, October 7. Fr. Sam is a decades-long veteran pastor and has also served as regional episcopal vicar and episcopal vicar for the initiative On Mission for The Church Alive! He knows the workings of the Church of Pittsburgh as well as anyone. Fr. Sam will be retaining his position as chaplain to the Felician Sisters at Our Lady of the Sacred Heart High School and also his residence there, but will also be assisting at the parishes of RockKenRo. Please join me in welcoming Fr. Sam.

We ended with a powerful prayer experience focused on God the Father with the reading of The Father's Love Letter. The next EDGE Night is Wednesday, October 2 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the AGS - Kennedy Campus gym! All youth in 6-8 grades are welcome to attend.

Dave will clarify many misunderstandings surrounding this topic during this thorough and dynamic presentation on the world of evil and the unfathomable power of the mercy of God flowing through his priests. After the talk there will be time for questions. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m., talk begins at 7:15 p.m. RSVPs are appreciated at www.rockenrocatholics.org.
