

I STUDENT CUSTODY IN SITUATIONS INVOLVING DIVORCE OR SEPARATION

All persons without legal custody of a child have no right to educational participation--including receipt of school materials--including "step-parents," friends, and family members. In cases where parents disagree on the educational decisions to be made concerning the child, no action will be taken by the school absent joint agreement, and if no agreement is reached, no action will be taken. Recognizing that requiring Saint Anselm School to provide duplicate copies of school grades, notices, and other related educational materials is administratively difficult, Saint Anselm School will send only one set of such materials to the parents/guardians. Therefore, parents/guardians retain the responsibility of communicating such information to each other for the health and welfare of the child. Saint Anselm School is not required to send such material to any other person. School calendar and other pertinent information is listed on the school website and/or school Facebook page for easy access.
