

2022 Monsignor James Kissane – Person of The Year Award Nomination Form

The Person of The Year Award is presented in memory of Monsignor James Kissane and recognizes those who have achieved distinguished honor in the field of law enforcement. The award was created to acknowledge individuals who have made significant and lasting contributions to the law enforcement community over a period of time. The Person of The Year award is designed to recognize individuals who have demonstrated true leadership ability and serve as an example with regards to character and integrity from within the law enforcement community. While consideration shall be given to participation in activities outside of law enforcement, it is not a required criterion.

The selection is determined based on nominations from members of the Police Holy Name Society of Suffolk County, both active and retired. The list of candidates is then screened and voted on by the Board of the Society in order to make a final selection.
