As Executive Director of His Way At Work, Armando is in charge of escalating the organization to be able to reach Business Leaders and their companies in an efficient and self-sustainable way.

Before His Way At Work, Armando did Consulting, Start-ups and was the Health and Benefits Business Leader in Mexico for Mercer and before that Willis. Armando holds a BA in Economics from ITESM in Mexico, and an MBA from Harvard Business School.

He lives in Atlanta and volunteers as Board Chair for the Harvard Business School Club of Atlanta. Armando and his wife Illya enjoy homeschooling their twin daughters Julia and Camila.

After finishing high school as salutatorian of his class, Fr. Bruce Wren attended St. John's College in Santa Fe, N.M., where he received a Bachelor's Degree of Liberal Arts. He received his priestly vocation at the age of 23, and joined the Legion of Christ at the insistence of a good friend Jesuit priest. He received degrees in classical humanities, philosophy, and theology in Salamanca, Spain and Rome, Italy. He was ordained on January 3 1996 by the Archbishop of Hartford and began his priestly ministry as Instructor of Novices in Cornwall, Canada. He is currently superior of the Legionaries' Chicago, Chaplain of Lumen Institute (Chicago) and CPI, and spiritual director for many religious and lay people.

"Let Christians follow the example of Christ who worked as a craftsman; let them be proud of the opportunity to carry out their earthly activity in such a way as to integrate human, domestic, professional, scientific and technical enterprises with religious values, under whose supreme direction all things are ordered to the glory of God." - Second Vatican Council
