

"The ultimate test of a moral society is the kind of world that it leaves to its children."

*Dietrich Bonhoeffer
German pastor, pacifist, and activist, executed in 1945*

Today marks the 76th anniversary of D-Day. It was a day that changed the course of the war. This year we are also celebrating the 75th anniversary of the end of WWII.

The war was a defining moment in the course of history. Allied forces stepped up to fight against man's inhumanity to man. These brave men and women made sure the words that are at the core of who we are, "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all are created equal," was honored. The world became a stage where the courageous fought to defend the inalienable rights of humanity.

The Michigan WWII Legacy Memorial strives to teach these lessons so they are ingrained in all of us. We lean on the legacy of these heroes to help us pass on this critical message: Change can happen. Change will happen. But it takes us all to fight for what is right and just.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. said "Change does not roll in on the wheels of inevitability, but comes through continuous struggle." The despicable murder of George Floyd is a grim reminder that, while much has been accomplished, there is still much work to do.

We live in hope that we all can be a part of continued change and a solution to move forward in peace.

Join us in our efforts. You can become part of the change.
