Dear Friends,

Last week, Father Juan Manuel wrote his biography which I hope you read. I didn’t know he wanted to be an architect in a previous life. It got me thinking that I should let you know a little bit about myself before coming here to OLL two years ago.

My cousin visited me last week and she brought along the following article from Catholic San Francisco from June of 2000, right before I was ordained a priest. I had never seen this article before! I share it with you now.

Enjoy!
Fr. Brian

“If Brian were going to be named Pope, I couldn’t be more proud of him,” said Eileen Costello, Rev. Mr. Costello’s mother. Born in Oakland on June 2, 1953, the ordinand is one of four children of Eileen and the late James Costello. He was baptized in his crib by the late Father John Sullivan of Boston, a classmate of Cardinal Francis J. Spellman, former Archbishop of New York. “Father Sullivan placed a special relic in his crib and said, ‘He is going to be something very special,’” said Eileen Costello.

The first time his parents heard he wanted to be a priest was when his first grade teacher, Presentation Sister Mary Nicholas, told them he had announced it in front of classmates at St. Elizabeth School in Portola District. They didn’t give it much thought then as young Brian was involved in preparing for First Communion.

But when his mother continuously found him in the garage “saying Mass” on a makeshift altar with several candles burning, she thought maybe there could be some substance to the young man’s story. “I still remember the smell of those candles and running for fear he was going to burn the house down,” she laughed.

Today, he says, “I honestly can’t remember a time I didn’’t want to become a priest.” His mother was the major influence in his life and taught him the importance of love he said. “Some of my first memories are of her taking me to church, reading Bible stories, and teaching me my prayers.”

Ever since he was eight, his mother said, he would give her a rose on his own birthday and say, “I wouldn’t be celebrating my birthday if it weren’t for you – because you gave me life.” When he could afford it, he included a box of candies with the rose – a tradition, his mother said, that continues.

Growing up, Rev. Mr. Costello said he wanted to emulate his pastor, the late Father Richard Power of Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City. “His goodness permeated everything he did,” he said, “whether he was celebrating Mass or passing out dimes at our annual parish festival. He was a good man and a good priest, and I wanted to be just like him.”

President John F. Kennedy and Pope John XXIII were boyhood heroes, he noted, who had a great impact. “President Kennedy was our first Catholic president and he wasn’t afraid to show the world he was a man who had deep faith. Pope John had the courage to call Vatican Council II despite the Roman Curia.

After graduating from Our Lady of Mercy Elementary, the soon-to-be-ordained man attended St. Joseph High School Seminary from 1967-1971. He also attended St. Patrick College Seminary for two years and San Francisco State University where he earned a bachelor’s degree in English in 1975.

His vocational journey has taken him in several directions, including teaching at five Catholic High School’s in California – San Jose’s Bellarmine College Prep and Archbishop Mitty; San Fernando Valley’s Alamany; St. Genevieve in Panama City; and Bellarmine/Jefferson High School, Burbank.

He also spent 1983-95 in the religious community of the Congregation of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary during which time he was ordained a deacon by former Auxiliary Bishop Patrick J. McGrath at St. Mary’s Cathedral, April 1989.

In 1995 Rev. Mr. Costello left the Congregation. “The religious community no longer felt like my family for life. It was like a marriage of partners that drifted apart” he said.

Three years ago, he entered St. Patrick Seminary in Menlo Park as a candidate to the priesthood for the Archdiocese. The president/rector, Sulpician Father Gerald Coleman said of the future priest, “I have known Brian since he was in the college seminary and hold him in deep respect.” “One of Brian’s major strengths is his self-reflective honesty,” said Father Coleman. “His journey to the priesthood has been a long one, but never marred by a lack of commitment or strength of character. He will be an extremely fine priest, one who will demonstrate, I believe, a superb pastoral sense.

Two priest colleagues who will be helping vest Rev. Mr. Costello on his ordination day are Father Mike Burns, pastor of St. William Parish in Los Altos, and Father John Cloherty, pastor of Holy Angels, Daly City. “These men are people priests and always put other before themselves. I hope in some small way, I can have the effect on people as they have throughout their ministries,” said Rev. Mr. Costello.

The future priest said he believes the future of the Archdiocese can be seen in the faces of new immigrants from Latin America, Asia, and other parts of the world. “We, as Church, need to welcome them with open arms and open hearts. Together we cannot help but be a better Church – because that’s what Catholic is all about, he said, adding he hopes to bring “God’s great love as manifested in His Word and Sacraments, especially the Eucharist: to the people of the Archdiocese.

Interests and hobbies, he said, include “all sports, especially baseball.” When time permits he plays basketball, racquetball and tennis. His taste in music runs from classical to heavy metal. He enjoys biographies and historical novels as well as movies.

LECTURAS DE HOY
Primera lectura — Tus antepasados esperaron con fe y valor el cumplimiento de las promesas de Dios (Sabiduría 18:6-9).
Salmo — Dichoso el pueblo escogido por Dios (Salmo 33 [32]).
Segunda lectura — A causa de la fidelidad al llamado de Dios, los descendientes de Abraham son tan numerosos como las estrellas (Hebreos 11:1-2, 8-19 [1-2, 8-12]).
Evangelio — Estén alerta y preparados porque no saben ni el día ni la hora en que el Hijo del hombre aparecerá (Lucas 12:32-48 [35-40]).

NO SE DEJEN ENGAÑAR
Que no los perturbe el clamor de este mundo, que pasa como una sombra. No dejen que los falsos los deleiten de un mundo mentiroso que lo engañe.
—Santa Clara

La primera vez que sus padres escucharon que quería ser sacerdote fue cuando su maestra de primer grado, Presentación hermana Mary Nicholas, les dijo que había anunciado que delante de sus compañeros de clase en la Escuela St. Elizabeth en Portola Distrito. Ellos no dan mucho pensamiento a continuación, tan joven Brian participó en la preparación para la primera comunión.

Pero cuando su madre lo encontró de forma continua en el garaje "misas" en un improvisado altar con varias velas encendidas, pensó que tal vez podría haber algo de sustancia a la historia del joven. "Todavía recuerdo el olor de las velas y corriendo por miedo a que se iba quemar la casa", se rió.

Hoy, dice, "Honestamente, no puedo recordar un momento en que no quería ser sacerdote." Su madre fue la mayor influencia en su vida y le enseñó la importancia del amor, dijo. "Algunos de mis primeros recuerdos son de su yo tomar a la iglesia, leer historias de la Biblia, y enseñándome mis oraciones."

Desde que tenía ocho años, su madre dijo que iba a darle una rosa en su propio cumpleaños y decir, "yo no estaría celebrando mi cumpleaños, si no fuera por ti -. Porque me dio la vida" Cuando podía permitir, que incluye una caja de dulces con la rosa - una tradición, su madre dijo que sigue.

Al crecer, Rev. Sr. Costello dijo que quería emular a su pastor, el difunto padre Richard Poder de Nuestra Señora de la Merced en Daly City. "Su bondad impregnaba todo lo que hizo", dijo, "si estaba celebrando misa o desmayos monedas de diez centavos en nuestro festival anual de la parroquia. Era un buen hombre y un buen cura, y yo quería ser como él."

El presidente John F. Kennedy y el Papa Juan XXIII fueron héroes de infancia, señaló, que tuvo un gran impacto. "El presidente Kennedy fue nuestro primer presidente católico y que no tenía miedo de mostrar al mundo que él era un hombre que tenía una fe profunda. Juan tuvo el valor de llamar al Concilio Vaticano II a pesar de la curia romana."

Su recorrido profesional lo ha llevado en varias direcciones, incluyendo la enseñanza a las cinco Catholic High School de California - Belarmino Preparación para la Universidad de San José y el Arzobispo Mitty; Alamany del Valle de San Fernando; St. Genevieve en la Ciudad de Panamá; Belarmino y / Jefferson High School, de Burbank.

También pasó 1983-95 en la comunidad religiosa de la Congregación de los Sagrados Corazones de Jesús y María, tiempo durante el cual fue ordenado diácono por el ex obispo auxiliar Patrick J. McGrath en la catedral de Santa María, de abril de 1989.

En 1995 Rev. Sr. Costello salió de la Congregación. "La comunidad religiosa ya no se sentía como mi familia para toda la vida. Era como un matrimonio de parejas que se separaron ", dijo.

Hace tres años, ingresó en el Seminario de San Patrick en Menlo Park como candidato al sacerdocio en la Arquidiócesis. El presidente / rector, dijo sulpiciano Padre Gerald Coleman del futuro sacerdote, "He conocido a Brian desde que estaba en el colegio seminario y retenerlo en el profundo respeto. "Uno de los principales puntos fuertes de Brian es su honestidad auto-reflexivo", dijo padre Coleman. "Su camino hacia el sacerdocio ha sido largo, pero nunca empañado por la falta de compromiso o la fuerza de carácter. Él será un cura muy bien, uno que demostrar, creo, un excelente sentido pastoral.

Dos colegas cura que estará ayudando chaleco Rev. Sr. Costello en su día de la ordenación son el padre Mike Burns, párroco de St. Genevieve en la ciudad de Daly City. "Estos hombres son gente sacerdotes y siempre ponen al otro antes de sí mismos. Espero que de alguna manera, puedo tener el efecto en las personas, ya que que tienen a lo largo de su ministerio ", dijo el Rev. Sr. Costello.

El futuro sacerdote dijo que cree que el futuro de la Arquidiócesis se puede ver en las caras de los nuevos inmigrantes de América Latina, Asia y otras partes del mundo. "Nosotros, como Iglesia, hay que recibirlos con los brazos abiertos y el corazón abierto. En conjunto, no puede dejar de ser una Iglesia mejor - porque eso es lo Católica se trata, dijo, y agregó que espera para llevar "gran amor de Dios que se manifiesta en su Palabra y los Sacramentos, especialmente la Eucaristía: a la gente de la Arquidiócesis.

Intereses y aficiones, dijo, incluyen "todos los deportes, especialmente el béisbol." Cuando el tiempo lo permite se juega al baloncesto, frontenis y tenis. Su gusto por la música va desde lo clásico a metales pesados. Él disfruta de biografías y novelas históricas, así como películas.
