Our Lady's "Peace Plan"
It's an individual request!

To accomplish Mary's requests we are each invited to make a personal commitment to learn and follow these requests.

What has Our Lady requested of each of us?
1. Say the Rosary - Every day, Focus on the Joyful, Sorrowful, Glorious, and Luminous Mysteries, which follow the life of Christ. (Rosaries will be available at all entrances. How to say the Rosary pamphlets will also be available.)
2. Offer up daily sacrifices. Make each "little" or "big" sacrifice a "Gift". Write your efforts on paper and add them to the box at Mary's feet. (It's to the left of the altar)
3. Make 5 First Saturdays. September 1, is the first Saturday. Start, or Continue your own 5- first Saturday devotion. The four conditions for a 1st Saturday: Confession, Communion, Rosary, and Meditation Pick up a 1/2 page flyer and a pamphlet at the exits.
4. Make a personal consecration to Our Lady and her Peace Plan. (This will be presented Sept. 9th)

Choose to learn the four requests of Her plan, follow them, and a "peace" will be yours. The world can't take it away, BUT, the whole world will benefit.

Sister Lucia of Fatima asked Our Lady a question:
"What must the individual Catholic do in order that peace be given to the world? Our Lady's answer:

"WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP?"
1. Say the Rosary - Every day. (Rosaries will be available at all entrances. How to say the Rosary pamphlets will also be available.)
2. Offer up your daily tasks. Make each "little" or "big" sacrifice a "Gift". Write your efforts on paper and add them to the box at Mary's feet. (It's to the left of the altar)
3. Make 5 First Saturdays. Saturday, September 1, is the first Saturday in September. Start, or Continue your own 5- first Saturday devotion. The four conditions for a 1st Saturday: Confession, Communion, Rosary, and Meditation Pick up a 1/2 page flyer and a pamphlet at the exits.
4. Make a personal consecration to Our Lady and her Peace Plan. (This will be presented in September 9th's)

Dear Faithful of the Archdiocese,

Last Sunday witnessed what many are calling a “bombshell” in the Church: the publication of Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò’s “Testimony,” alleging corruption and coverup at all levels of the Church based on his long and extensive personal knowledge.

I came to know Archbishop Viganò well during the years he served as Apostolic Nuncio here in the United States. I can attest that he is a man who served his mission with selfless dedication, who fulfilled well the Petrine mission entrusted to him by the Holy Father to “strengthen his brothers in the faith,” and who would do so at great personal sacrifice and with absolutely no consideration given to furthering his “career” – all of which speaks to his integrity and sincere love of the Church. Moreover, while having no privileged information about the Archbishop McCarrick situation, from information I do have about a very few of the other statements Archbishop Viganò makes, I can confirm that they are true. His statements, therefore, must be taken seriously. To dismiss them lightly would continue a culture of denial and obfuscation. Of course, to validate his statements in detail a formal investigation will have to be conducted, one that is thorough and objective. I am therefore grateful to Cardinal DiNardo for recognizing the merit of finding answers that are “conclusive and based on evidence,” and I join my voice to that of other bishops in calling for such an investigation and for taking any corrective action that may be necessary in light of its findings.

I was named a bishop on July 5, 2002, three weeks after the USCCB meeting in Dallas that approved the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People, and still at the height of the drama of revelations of sex abuse of minors by clergy.

At that time, I was asked to conduct a prayer service at the conclusion of a conference on family life hosted by the diocese that attracted participants from around the world. I met there an Australian priest with whom I was acquainted during our years of study in Rome, and he congratulated me on my appointment. I replied, “Thank you, but this is not a good time to become a bishop.” I will never forget his response to me: “But it is a good time to be a great bishop.”

What he said to me then can be said to every Catholic at this time. The Church is in need of purification. Purification is always painful. My dear victims: you know this more than anyone; please know of our prayers and love for you, and that we continue to be here for you, to support you and help you to heal with the resources we have available.

I believe God is beginning this painful process of purification for us now, but for it to work, we must cooperate. God has always raised up great saints in similar times of turmoil in the Church. I call on all of us to rededicate ourselves to prayer, penance and adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, so that God will bless us with this grace.

Please know of my gratitude to you all: to you our priests, who remain close by your people, lending them support and pastoral care in this time of crisis; to you our deacons, who assist priests in this responsibility and bring the Gospel to those for whom it would otherwise be inaccessible; to you our victims assistance coordinators and to all who support victims on the painful path toward healing; to the faculty and administration of St. Patrick’s Seminary for your hard work in providing deep and healthy formation for our future priests for the renewal of the Church in our corner of the Lord’s vineyard, and to our seminarians for your fervor and generosity in responding to the Lord’s call of priestly service; and last but not least, to you, our people, for your prayer, for your love and concern for the Church, which now moves you to demand change that is effective and decisive, and for your support of our priests.

May God grant us all the grace to be the agents of change and purification that He is calling us to be at this time.

Sincerely yours in our Lord,

Most Rev. Salvatore J. Cordileone
Archbishop of San Francisco

El Arzobispo Cordileone ha escrito esta carta a los fieles con respecto al Testimonio del Arzobispo Viganò.

29 de agosto de 2018

Queridos fieles de la Arquidiócesis,

El domingo pasado fue testigo de lo que muchos llaman una "bomba" en la Iglesia: la publicación del "Testimonio" del Arzobispo Carlo María Viganò, que alega corrupción y encubrimiento en todos los niveles de la Iglesia en base a su largo y extenso conocimiento personal.

Llegué a conocer bien al Arzobispo Viganò durante los años que sirvió como Nuncio Apostólico aquí en los Estados Unidos. Puedo dar fe de que es un hombre que cumplió su misión con dedicación desinteresada, que cumplió bien la misión petrina que le había encomendado el Santo Padre para "fortalecer a sus hermanos en la fe", y que lo haría con gran sacrificio personal y con absolutamente ninguna consideración dada a la promoción de su "carrera" - todo lo cual habla de su integridad y amor sincero a la Iglesia. Además, aunque no tengo información privilegiada sobre la situación del Arzobispo McCarrick, de la información que tengo sobre unas pocas de las otras declaraciones que hace el Arzobispo Viganò, puedo confirmar que son ciertas. Sus declaraciones, por lo tanto, deben tomarse en serio. Descartarlos a la ligera continuaría una cultura de negación y ofuscación. Por supuesto, para validar sus declaraciones en detalle, se deberá llevar a cabo una investigación formal, exhaustiva y objetiva. Por lo tanto, estoy agradecido con el Cardenal DiNardo por reconocer el mérito de encontrar respuestas que sean "concluyentes y basadas en evidencia", y unir mi voz a la de otros obispos al pedir dicha investigación y tomar las medidas correctivas que puedan ser necesarias. a la luz de sus hallazgos.

Fui nombrado obispo el 5 de julio de 2002, tres semanas después de la reunión de la USCCB en Dallas que aprobó la Carta para la Protección de Niños y Jóvenes, y aún en el apogeo de las revelaciones de abuso sexual de menores por parte del clero.

En ese momento, se me pidió que dirigiera un servicio de oración al concluir una conferencia sobre la vida familiar organizada por la diócesis que atraía a participantes de todo el mundo. Allí conocí a un sacerdote australiano con el que estaba familiarizado durante nuestros años de estudio en Roma, y me felicitó por mi nombramiento. Respondí: "Gracias, pero este no es un buen momento para convertirme en obispo". Nunca olvidaré su respuesta: "Pero es un buen momento para ser un gran obispo".

Lo que él me dijo entonces se puede decir a todos los católicos en este momento. La Iglesia necesita una purificación. La purificación siempre es dolorosa Mis queridas víctimas: lo saben más que nadie; por favor conozca nuestras oraciones y amor por usted, y que sigamos estando aquí para usted, para apoyarlo y ayudarlo a sanar con los recursos que tenemos disponibles.

Cree que Dios está comenzando este doloroso proceso de purificación para nosotros ahora, pero para que funcione, debemos cooperar. Dios siempre ha levantado grandes santos en tiempos similares de agitación en la Iglesia. Llamo a todos a dedicarnos de nuevo a la oración, la penitencia y la adoración del Santísimo Sacramento, para que Dios nos bendiga con esta gracia.

Por favor, sepan de mi gratitud a todos ustedes: a ustedes, nuestros sacerdotes, que permanecen cerca de su pueblo, prestando apoyo y cuidado pastoral en este momento de crisis; a ustedes, nuestros diáconos, que ayudan a los sacerdotes en esta responsabilidad y llevan el Evangelio a aquellos a quienes de otra manera sería inaccesible; a los coordinadores de asistencia a las víctimas y a todos los que apoyan a las víctimas en el doloroso camino hacia la curación; a la facultad y administración del Seminario de San Patricio por su arduo trabajo en proporcionar una formación profunda y saludable para nuestros futuros sacerdotes para la renovación de la Iglesia en nuestro rincón de la viña del Señor, y a nuestros seminaristas por su fervor y generosidad en responder a el llamado del Señor al servicio sacerdotal; y por último pero no menos importante, a usted, a nuestra gente, por su oración, por su amor y preocupación por la Iglesia, que ahora lo mueve a exigir un cambio que sea efectivo y decisivo, y por su apoyo a nuestros sacerdotes.

Que Dios nos conceda toda la gracia de ser agentes de cambio y purificación que Él nos llama a ser en este momento.

Atentamente en nuestro Señor,

La mayoría de Rev. Salvatore J. Cordileone
