The Pastor's Corner:

"Quid pro quo" is a Latin expression that means something given or received for something else. Charity sometimes takes on a mistaken quid pro quo mentality: If I help you out then "you owe me one." Charity becomes a rain check; the recipient is in a sort of debtor's prison. Today's readings remind us that charity is a free gift, a gift asked more often of those who have more. Reimbursement may be deferred, even to the next world!

The first reading comes from Sirach, a collection of Israel's wisdom sayings written around 190 B.C. Sirach 3:29 begins a message on almsgiving, addressed more than likely to an audience made up of wealthy families. The image is striking: Just as water extinguishes fire, so almsgiving atones for sin. In this weekend's gospel, Jesus explains that one does not merit a heavenly reward by scrambling for a place at the head table, as status-seekers do. Those who are humble and serve others will gain a place at the eternal banquet. ~ Father Colletti

Prayer for Labor Day

On this weekend, when we rest from our usual labors, loving Father, we pray for all who shoulder the tasks of human labor—in the marketplace, in factories and offices, in the professions, and in family living.

We thank you, Lord, for the gift and opportunity of work; may our efforts always be pure of heart, for the good of others and the glory of Your name.

We lift up to You all who long for just employment and those who work to defend the rights and needs of workers everywhere.

May those of us who are now retired always remember that we still make a valuable contribution to our Church and our world by our prayers and deeds of charity.

May our working and our resting all give praise to You until the day we share together in eternal rest with all our departed in your Kingdom as you live and reign Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever. Amen. ~ Archdiocese of Detroit

Holiness does not consist in doing extraordinary things.

It consists in accepting, with a smile, whatever Jesus sends us.

It consists in accepting and following the Will of God.
