As we continue to respond to Covid-19, it is important that our parish office has your current contact info to communicate any changes or upcoming initiatives. We also want to make sure all are being helped. If you prefer to respond by email, please write to deemccall@stbernardstmary.org and include your name, address, phone number, and your email address. Or you can call the office at 330-253-5161 and leave a message with that information. Thank you! May God Bless you all.

Please Return Baby Bottles: Thank you for your generous participation in the Embrace Clinic & Care Center Baby Bottle Drive. Please return the bottles the weekends of June 27th/28th or July 4th/5th. There will be two bins in the front of the church marked "Embrace Baby Bottle Return" for you to place the bottles in. If you have any questions, please call Michele Schmidt at 313-319-1188. Thank you and God bless you!

Bible Study is bilingual on June 30th, from 7:00 p.m.-8:15 p.m. We will be using freeconferencecall.com. For more information, please call Any Martinez at 330-671-5926.

“So, Could you not watch with me one hour?” The St. Augustine Parish Perpetual Adoration Holy Program has been going for 62 years. Currently there is a need for more people to join who are willing to spend an hour a week in Adoration. Many of the hours listed below are covered by adorers who also are making two or three Holy Hours at different times. Many have said it is the best hour of their week.

If you are willing to “Watch an hour with Me” or are interested in more information, please contact Joie Maple, Head of the Holy Hour program, at (330) 285-8570.

PASTOR'S NOTE

It's called the 'So What!?' Factor!

Mrs. Baumhaugher, my 11th grade English teacher, stated it as the most important feature of any writing we would ever do! You surfaced 20 facts on vaccines. So what? Can you arrange them in any intelligible order? You arranged a report on vaccines in intelligible order. So what!? Did you introduce your audience well to them in the introduction and bridge their understanding from the report you just gave to a livable experience or future action? You wrote about some sort of future experience or livable action the audience could take after reading your essay in the concluding paragraph. So What!? Is this action practical and helpful? I think of the “So What!? factor as we review the hate and virus pandemics we have been dealing with lately. We protested (and denied most parishioners access to their church) for two weeks; So What!? Did this lead to noticeable and permanent change in the society? What do we have to do more of to accomplish such a change? We stayed home and “slowed the spread” and shut down our economy for three months; So What!? Does this mean that we can just stop social distancing when we feel like it or that because of all of this action we now magically won't contract the virus? Ordinary Time, especially during Summer, is a time to put into practice all the thoughts that we realized during Lent and Easter. In a special way, too, it is a time to make all the adjustments that are fruits of our quarantine reflections. I watched all the new Star Trek episodes. So What!? Does this make me a better person (I would argue it certainly could help me appreciate diversity ☺ but then again, I am a Trekkie...). I appreciated the ability to be with people during quarantine because I couldn't be around anyone during quarantine! So What!? Am I going to treat people with an increased amount of dignity and respect? Whatever our “so what's” are, Summer is the perfect time to put them into practice. Summer happened; So What!? May Labor Day find you with powerful answers to this question, and may these answers include how you sought God's will and found God guiding you in the present.

– Father Chris
