

It is that time of the year again- the time when you get to vote for your student council officers. This past November you may have told yourself that you would never again listen to a campaign speech. Luckily, this time you will not have to, because you will be reading one. For those few of you that do not know me, my name is Julianna Farrell and I am running for my second term as Student Council President.

Who am I? For most people that is a fairly easy question to answer. However, I am a multitude of different things. First and foremost I am a student, who has to deal with the same daily stress of high school that you do. I understand that student council may be the last thought on your mind as we approach finals and regents- especially algebra, and I am here to calm your fears. Student council, for most students at Trinity, should not be a worry! You should be able to complete your senior year without the threat of not winning the Homecoming banner, Spirit Night, and other major events. Wouldn't you like to be able to focus on your own busy schedule filled with sports and academics without worrying about how prom will be organized? We have a lot on our plate next year, and a lot of responsibilities. Allow me to take care of organizing your last year at Trinity; it is what I do best!

Actually, it has been what I have been doing best since we were freshmen. I am the only presidential candidate who has been doing student council for more than one year; actually I have been helping out at Student Council for all three years of high school. I helped paint the homecoming banner for freshmen year and every other banner up until our Spirit Night banner this year- that won! I was incredibly happy that not only did we give the upperclassmen a run for their money at Spirit Night, but we put so much time and effort into sketching, tracing, and painting that banner. It was truly a win for every member of the Class of 2018. I have an extraordinary amount of experience in student council, while still maintaining the incorporation of new ideas that are met with my passion for art and creativity. With that I am also the only presidential candidate that is a member of National Art Honor Society, and am a nominee for LiGHTS. Because of my credentials I am able to not only generate new artistic ideas for your benefit, but also assist Trinity students of all grades.

I want to make some big changes at Trinity, and I also want to give our class a voice. There have been some questions regarding senior privileges and if they will stay in place next year- and they will. I'm not the type of person that will blindly follow without a good reason, in fact, I think that if we have any issue we should be able to change it, or at the very least discuss it with the faculty. Needless to say, I'm a tough cookie, and if the school wants to do away with our senior privileges they will have to answer to us. Why should our class get the short end of the stick? We deserve the same respect as any class that has graduated before us.

If you vote for me you will be voting for stability, organization, experience, as well as imagination. Our grade is bound for amazing achievements next year, please do not let our potential go to waste. Because when it all comes down to it we all want the same thing next year- a normal, fun, last year of high school. Thank you, it has been an honor to be your president.

Sincerely,

Julianna Farrell; President of the Class of 2018.
