Collection for AMS

The National Collection for the Archdiocese for the Military Services, USA (AMS) is a triennial collection approved by the US Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) in 2012.

The AMS was created by Pope John Paul II to provide the Catholic Church's full range of pastoral ministries and spiritual services to those in the United States Armed Forces.

The Archdiocese serves as the sole endorser (certifier) of Roman Catholic chaplains to the United States government and the VA hospitals. A Roman Catholic priest cannot serve within the United States Military as a priest without the express permission of the Archdiocese. These chaplains serve on loan from their diocese of incardination or religious order/society and are released for a term of military service. Chaplains never become members of the Archdiocese; instead, they always remain subject to their home bishop/religious superiors. The only clergy incardinated into the AMS are its archbishop and auxiliary bishops.

Once a priest receives the endorsement and the subsequent faculties of the archdiocese, he becomes a commissioned military officer of the United States. A priest's assignments are provided by the Office of the Chief of Chaplains of each respective branch of the U.S. military.

Unlike a conventional diocese, the Archdiocese has no parishes or parish registries. Chapels are property of the United States government. Although the Archdiocese exercises jurisdiction over the religious education programs and the celebration of Catholic Liturgy, it maintains no legal jurisdiction over the physical property of the chapel. Thus, all records of sacraments performed on U.S. Military installations are maintained by the Archdiocese in its Office of Sacramental Records. The Archdiocese receives no funding from the United States government. Rather, the Archdiocese is solely funded by the generosity of its chaplains, men and women in uniform and private benefactors.

The coat of arms of the AMS is divided into three sections: red, silver or white, and blue – the traditional colors of the United States. The uppermost portion has an American bald eagle holding the universal symbol of peace, a green olive branch; in the middle portion, a silver cross on the outline meridians of the earth; in the red portion are the gold and silver crossed keys of Saint Peter, the symbol of the Holy See. The composition of the arms conveys the message and mission of the AMS – to be Americans bearing peace; to proclaim Christ all over the world; and to carry out the mission of the Church to offer healing through the forgiveness of sins.

Please give generously to the collection this weekend. Thank you.
