Acknowledgement
San Xavier Mission School wishes to thank Ms. Margie Butler for her time and energy in compiling the Tohono O’odham Ni’oki c Himidag Curriculum. Ms. Edith Manuel for her help and support in teaching the language and teaching the children the importance of reviving the language as we do not want to see the O’odham language lost. Sister Jackie Koenig former principal who helped in overseeing that the Curriculum was completed and used weekly in the classrooms. Ms. Jean McKenzie, Assistant Superintendent who provided assistance to the project in her expertise in the Curriculum. Sister Rosa Maria Ruiz for her encouragement and support in the drive to start our own O’odham Language Curriculum at San Xavier School.

Introduction

The goal of our students at San Xavier Mission School on the Tohono O’odham Reservation is to:
   To mold in the student the respect and appreciation of their Tohono O’odham Ni’oki c Himidag.
   To teach the Tohono O’odham language skills in – both speaking and writing.

San Xavier Mission School’s rational for implementing the Tohono O’odham Ni’oki c Himidag Curriculum is that:
The Native American experience has been omitted from the curriculum of the schools in America. Neither Native American students nor Anglo students are educated for the hard realities of their times. The non Indian student also has an urgent need for systematic exposure to at least the fundamental aspects of Indian and other ethnic studies programs. The non-Indian bears burdens of the past and present information and experiences which often leads him/her deceptively to taking a position of being anti-Indian (anti-minority), indifferent, or patronizing. These positions result inevitably from biased or inadequate information. Such positions, during the decades immediately ahead, can only lead to disaster.

Vision Statement

To make our Tohono O’odham students more successful by concreting our school philosophy which states; (The school community concerns itself with opening the whole person by facilitating religious development; academic achievement; habits of life long learning; community service; moral, personal, social, physical, healthy habits, and particularly cultural development.)
This will help the student perhaps more than anything else, to answer their questions concerning their identity. Before they can know where they are going, they must first know where they have been. For any effective leadership, especially of a minority people, it must be based upon knowledge of their past and a comprehensive knowledge of their present condition, out of which a sense of their aspirations and destiny grows.

Our strengths of the curriculum are as following:
- The curriculum will empower students to appreciate and learn their traditional Tohono O’dham Ni’oki and Himidag.
- The school has knowledge bilingual Tohono O’dham teachers/staff to direct and implement the curriculum.
- The language will be integrated into basic subjects.
- Numerous and diverse resources are available.

Our weaknesses in the curriculum are as follows:
- Success of the program depends on the daily implementation of the curriculum in the classroom.
- Cooperation and reliability from guest speakers.
- Daily oral drills in the classroom.

Our use of measure in evaluating the student learner and the program.

Assessment of student learner.
- Oral drill
- Teachers observation
- Performance
