

THIRTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME, C
DOMINGO XXX DEL TIEMPO ORDINARIO, C
"Whoever humbles himself will be exalted."
"Quien se humilla será exaltado."

Praying the Word

Lord, have mercy on me, a sinner. In this way we start our Eucharistic celebration when we pray 'I Confess...' like the publican who could not even lift his gaze to the sanctuary because aware of his indignity before God.

Señor, ten piedad de mí, pecador. Así iniciamos nuestra celebración de la Eucaristía recitando el 'Yo confieso...' como el publicano que ni siquiera levantaba la mirada al santuario porque consciente de su indignidad.

Trick or Treat; Halloween or All Saints ?

"Hallow" is an old English word for holy, as we use in the 'Our Father' and, therefore, refers to the season when we remember the Saints of God and our faithful departed, certainly many of them are saints. In contemporary popular culture, however, it has become a holiday of horror, a carnival of ghosts to exorcize our fears. As Catholics let us recover the traditions that define our identity, called to be holy as our God. "Help us to work together for the coming of the Kingdom until we stand before you, saints among the Saints in heaven" (Euc. P. for Recon. I).
