

Transfiguration Parish

MISSION STATEMENT

We are a Catholic community united by love, illuminated by the Transfiguration of our Lord Jesus Christ. We gather as a People of God seeking unity through the Holy Spirit to Worship through the Sacred Liturgy, Prayer and Sacraments, and to proclaim the Christian message which promotes Justice, Reconciliation and Service through Evangelization, Faith Formation and Discipleship.

VISION STATEMENT

Transfiguration Parish is committed to continual growth in the Catholic Faith through a lifelong union with Jesus Christ, and in service to others through the ministry of the Church. We spread the Good News of His love and promote His Word through evangelization, education, reflection, and daily witness. As faithful stewards we pledge to direct and develop the spiritual, human, financial, and material resources of the Church. We respond to His love with gratitude and prayer, with compassionate service, generous sharing, reconciliation and equality for all.

*From the Desk of Deacon Chris...LET THE CHILDREN COME TO ME

One of the primary ministries for all Christians is the call to social justice, and the innate dignity and respect of every human being. Fully aware of that fundamental truth for all disciples of Jesus, I feel it necessary to discuss the recent situation where immigrant children were separated from their parents. Perhaps you, like me, were very disturbed by the news stories coming from the centers where the children were detained. The one thing that made me very sad was thinking about how afraid the children must have been, even though I suspect that most of them are no strangers to fear. In fact, fear is probably a regular part of their lives in their native lands, and the desire to be free from fear is surely one of the reasons their parents chose to make the dangerous journey to the United States.

I want to be very clear that I have no intention of making this article a political statement. This has absolutely nothing to do with politics, and everything to do with how we love and treat one another. Sometimes I think people forget that all of us are children of God, created in His own image and likeness. As children of God, we have an obligation to love one another as Jesus instructed us in chapter 13 of the Gospel of John when Jesus said, "I give you a new commandment: love one another. As I have loved you, so you also should love one another.

So, I make no political judgments here. This is not about the President, or Congress, or the Department of Immigration. There is plenty of debate and discussion already going on in our country, and I do not intend to add fuel to the fire. I do intend to make the point that we should always protect the children! Children are a great gift from God, truly a blessing for our nation and the world. In a society that values the family so highly, it just makes no sense to me to even consider separating children from their parents. This also has nothing to do with whether the families involved are in our country legally or illegally. Unless there are proven signs of neglect or abuse, separating children from their parents is wrong no matter what! I hope everyone believes that.

I am reminded that we are human beings, and sometimes we make mistakes. For instance, I refer you to Chapter 10 of the Gospel of Mark which tells us that people were bringing children to Jesus to have Him bless them. And the disciples of Jesus rebuked the people and tried to keep the children away from Jesus. At this critical time in our nation, let us all remember the words of Jesus who said, "Let the children come to me; do not prevent them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. Amen, I say to you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it." Please pray for the children. God bless.

Nurses' Notes:

More Volunteers are still needed for "Two by Two", the Transfiguration Parish Faith in Action Team. Join your fellow parishioners on this team that provides non-medical support and friendship to someone caring for a family member with dementia/Alzheimer. All volunteers are offered training and continued support. By belonging to this team you only give the time you can when you can because there are several of you to share the role of helping. To receive more information, contact Pat Hebert @ 692-2135.

Health Tips: Parents of teenagers: teach those kids to cook. Algebra, calculus, history, robotics, coding, chemistry... a whole lot of learning happens at school. Be sure to include some basic kitchen skills on your children's curriculum, too. Developing cooking skills during the teenage years may help to ensure good nutrition and health down the road, says a new study. Researchers looked at data from thousands of people who were surveyed at ages 18 to 23 about their cooking skills and later, when they were 30 to 35, about their cooking and eating habits. In their 30s, those who had rated their cooking skills as "adequate" or "very adequate" as young adults were more likely to prepare meals that included vegetables and eat meals as a family, and less likely to eat fast food, than those who had reported poorer cooking skills. Old-school "home economics" classes, which were often required and included learning how to cook, are a thing of the past, but if cooking classes are offered as electives at your children's school, encourage them to sign up! Or put on your teacher's hat at home. Make cooking dinner a family affair by dividing duties at mealtime (prep cook, sauté chef, salad maker) whenever you all have the time. Throw on some music to add some fun. If you're not great in the kitchen yourself, build your competence and confidence by finding a cooking class in your community, or ask a friend who's cooking you enjoy for help. It's never too late to learn kitchen skills, and regularly preparing meals with whole foods (vegetables, beans, fish, whole grains, olive oil, and spices) is one of the best things you can do for your family's health — and their taste buds! The family that cooks together, stays healthy together! . <http://www.clevelandclinicwellness.com>
