From the Headmaster

During Catholic Schools Week, many of our students wrote notes and cards that were delivered to police officers in Indianapolis. This week we received replies from two of the officers to the students who wrote to them.

Since the notes were sent through me, I can say that they both expressed heartfelt appreciation for the prayers and support of the students. The police officers said that the messages from students were a badly needed boost in a job that is very difficult and often feels unappreciated.

The notes are a reminder of the importance of remaining faithful to our commitment to pray for police officers in Indianapolis. They need our prayers.

Enrollment for 2020-21

Thanks to all for returning your letters of intent to enroll for the coming school year. As of today, we've received letters of intent or applications for 85 students – already two more than are currently enrolled. We are working with several other families, so I am hopeful that we will have 90 or more students in the fall.

Please remember, if you intend to request financial aid for 2020-21, your FACTS application should be completed by Mar. 13. You can find the link in today's Weekly Update or on our school web site.

I hope students and teachers have an enjoyable three-day weekend!

From the Development Director:

Video Premier at Light in the City

On Thursday, Feb. 20, a videographer will be recording video for a new Lumen Christi promotional video that will be shown for the first time at our Light in the City dinner. Many new families who find our website mention how impressed they are by our videos, so it will be great to have an updated version that captures the faith and beauty of our school.

Sponsors Still Needed for Light in the City

If you interact with a business that might like to be a sponsor for our annual dinner, could you please give them the blue Light in the City Sponsorship flyer that's in today's Friday Folder? When a business sponsors our dinner, 200 people will know they support Catholic education at Lumen Christi. You or someone from the business is welcome to email, call or text me to speak about options.

Bourbon Pull Collection Continues

We are still collecting bottles of bourbon for our Light in the City Bourbon Pull. You can bring bottles into the office or give them directly to Jessi Armbruster who is chairing the Bourbon Pull this year. Thanks Jessi!

Auction Collection Continues

If you have an experience, gift card, or item to contribute for the Light in the City auction, please go to this link www.lumenchristischool.org/light-in-the-city-br-annual-dinner to find the form to fill out and then drop the item off at the office. Please contact Jill Olecki who is chairing the auction item collection with any questions. Thanks Jill!
