Dear Parishioners,
It is with great joy that I write this column. I wish to begin on a note of gratitude. I am grateful to God for all His blessings: the gift of life, good health, the gift of people like you and for many other things in life. It has been close to five months since I left you in June 30th 2021, after successfully completing my mission in Vermont. Indeed, whenever I look back, I remember Vermont with gratitude and joy. Vermont remains the door through which God brought me into this great nation. The Americans I know are Vermonters; the America I am proud to know is Vermont.

Ever since I left you, life has not been the same? Why? Vermont is like a home away from home. I felt at home while I was there, and whenever I remember it, I have that nostalgia of one's home. No matter how far I have moved away, I am still drawn as one who is on a journey. Why do I feel this way? It is not just about the beauty of Vermont, not about the mountains, but about the people I have met in Vermont: Fr. Maurice Roy, who nurtured me when I was beginning life in America; Fr. Jon Schnobrich, who even today I see as a brother from another mother. I cannot put down your names one after the other, lest I will miss anyone. My beloved, wonderful and amazing parishioners from St. Albans, Stowe and Morrisville, you have no equals, if I should compare you with others.

Many are worried about my wellbeing, and many have been asking about how life has been for me. In all, I will tell you that the beauty of life is not about how well things are, but about how well we live it. I do not have all the things in the world, but I live well to the glory of God. I have toured round some of the States in the Midwest of the country, and I will say, "America is beautiful." My home bishop expressed his desire for me to further my education, which is the major reason why he chose to leave me behind. On second note, security is not at its best now in my country.

What I need most now is your prayers for my country. With this spiritual support, the physical will fall in shape. I will keep you posted as things turn around. God bless you!

Yours in Christ, Mary and Joseph,
Fr Joseph C. Ikegbunam

COVID GUIDELINES

With Covid cases on the rise in our community, it is each of our responsibility to protect those around us. While not mandated at the present time, we support and respect each other in their personal decisions to wear a mask, social distance from others, and refrain from shaking hands at the sign of peace and other expressions of welcome and greeting. Thank you.
