Vocations: Marriage and Holy Orders

On March 21st, during the Holy Hour at 7pm at Annunciation, Bill McHale and his wife of over 50 years will be here to give a little talk on the 10 Commandments of 50 years; three-word sayings they strive to live by in their married lives. Please come for this time of prayer, humor, and gratitude for God's gift of marriage.

Also: Bill, who is very active in promoting prayer for vocations to the priesthood, would like to encourage the formation of a '31 Club,' where people sign up to pray for vocations every day of the month, so that each day, we have people praying for vocations from our parishes and families. If this interests you, please just say so and I can get a signup sheet passed around if we have 31 people interested.

Evening ~ March 14 ~ 7:00 p.m. at the Frankfort Community Library

This talk is aimed at a thoughtful discussion of the current state of the world matched with Christ's commandment to love our neighbor as He loves us, as well as how we can maintain interior peace in a world that is too often violent.

The speaker was a colonel in the 35th Infantry Division and served in southeast Europe with a NATO peacekeeping force where he came to know different Muslims.

Marriage Minute- This week's second reading tells us to bear hardship "with the strength that comes from God." In the Gospel, Jesus gives a concrete example of this. He prepares Peter, James, and John for his impending death by appearing transfigured before them, so that later when they saw him bound and beaten, they could remember who he truly was. Married people certainly encounter hardships. Whether the trials come from outside forces or from our own sin and weakness, they are guaranteed. One thing that can help us weather these storms is being intentional about taking time out for our own "transfiguration" moments—times we can see our marriages as they truly are. Weekends like "Living in Love" or "Marriage Encounter" won't prevent bad things from happening, but they can remind us why we married our spouse and how important our vocation is to the Church. To find your "transfiguration", see www.joyfulmarriageproject.com.

"HUMAN TRAFFICKING: 21ST CENTURY SLAVERY" The program will explore the multi-billion dollar crime of human trafficking and the impact of social media on exploitation of men, women and children. All community members (men & women) including teenagers are invited. Sponsored by the Women's Group of St. Vincent de Paul.

Recharge Marriage Workshop: Have you been looking for marriage enrichment but don't have a whole weekend? # Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

Have you ever stopped to wonder, “What makes the holy, holy?” What is it that makes a person holy? Is it some inner goodness or merit they achieved? Most godly people would be appalled by this suggestion; rather, they are unusually conscious of their own unworthiness. And this sense of unworthiness is often offset by an unusual consciousness of being a recipient of God’s mercy and grace. A story is told of a young girl, who when visiting a great cathedral, saw the figures depicted in the beautiful stained glass windows. It was explained to her that these were the “saints” of the Church. Later, when asked by someone, “What is a saint?” she answered, “A saint is someone who lets the light shine through.” Isn’t that really what makes us holy, the extent to which we allow Jesus, “the Light,” to shine through us? We are set apart and made spiritually beautiful, or holy, not because we reflect our own merit but because we reflect his merit. Pope John XXIII, in the biography The Journey of a Soul, uses two wonderful expressions to capture this same thought. The first is from St. Augustine: “When you crown our merit, you are crowning your own gifts.” The second is his own thought on this concept: “My merit, your mercy.” Both men understood that the goodness and essence of their spirituality was simply, “Christ in you, the hope of glory.” (Colossians 1:27) This week’s Gospel reading relates the story of Jesus and his three disciples on the Mount of Transfiguration. For a few short minutes these disciples visually saw that of which John the Baptist testified, the holiness of Jesus the Lamb of God. John the Baptist said, “among you stands one whom you do not know, even he who comes after me, the thong of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie.” This holy light which transfigured Jesus’ face and caused it to shine like the sun, was just a glimpse of his glory and holiness. This glory and holiness of Jesus Christ is the source of mercy of which Pope John XXIII spoke. As we proceed through these days of Lent, and reflect on our spiritual condition and perhaps the disarray of our relationship with Christ, it is easy to see ourselves as unholy. Often when we perceive our spiritual shortcomings we try to compensate and offset our shortcomings by renewed spiritual vigor and devout promises in an attempt to feel better about ourselves. When we respond this way we are getting the cart before the horse. The place of change and spiritual transformation begins with the recognition that we are holy, in spite of our sins, because the holiness of Jesus has been applied to our lives. God sees us as righteous through the righteousness of his Son. Pope John Paul II says in Mission of the Redeemer, “... we must first clearly affirm our faith in Christ, the one Savior of humanity, a faith we have received as a gift from on high, not as a result of any merit of our own. We say with Paul, ‘I am not ashamed of the Gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith’ (Rom 1:16).” When we are able by faith to grasp that concept we respond back to God in love, as Paul says in 2 Corinthians 5:14, “the love of Christ controls us, because we are convinced that one has died for all; therefore all have died. And he died for all, that those who live might live no longer for themselves but for him who for their sake died and was raised.” This is how transformation takes place. With this understanding of Christ’s love for us our resolve to live for him with renewed spiritual vigor comes not from a desire to offset our previous sins, but out of gratitude that our sins have been forgiven. That which makes the holy, holy, is simply the presence of Jesus, the “Light of the World,” dwelling within us. His merit, his gifts shining through us, transforms our attitudes and behavior.
