The Twenty-First Sunday in Ordinary Time

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples For Jesus

St. Augustine, Bishop and Doctor August 28th

In his famous autobiography, Confessions, Augustine tells of his struggle to find God. He was born in what is now Algiers in North Africa. His mother, Monica was a devout Christian. His father, Patricius was an ill-tempered pagan. Augustine excelled in school when he wanted to, but he also went with a bad crowd and got into many worthless activities. When he was older, he began living with a woman whom he never married, but who bore him a son. For a while, he also followed a heresy called Manichaeism.

After he finished school, Augustine was first a speech teacher in Rome and then a professor in Milan. His mother followed him to these places, pleading with him to return to the Christian faith. In Milan, Augustine often listened to the sermons of St. Ambrose, the local bishop. Through them, he first learned to read Scripture prayerfully. He enrolled as a catechumen but wavered back and forth about being baptized.

Then one day while Augustine prayed to be free from his sins, he heard a child's voice chanting, "Take up and read." Augustine opened the Bible and read the first thing his eyes fell upon, Romans 13: 13-14, which told him to give up his life of sin. Augustine was baptized at Easter and began reforming his life. With his mother he planned to return to Africa, but Monica died.

Augustine reached home and gave away all he had. Then he lived a quiet, prayerful life with a group of friends. This changed when Augustine visited the city of Hippo in 391. Valerius, the local bishop was preaching on the shortage of priests. The crowd began shouting, "Let Augustine be our priest." Augustine became a priest and then took Valerius' place when he died.

As bishop, Augustine worked tirelessly for his people. He fought false religious teachings, protected the people from corrupt officials and invaders, and cared for the sick, the poor, and those in prison. His many sermons, letters, and books reflect the ever-deepening love he felt for God. He wisely observed: "You have made us, O God, for yourself, and our hearts shall find no rest until they rest in you."

He was loved by many, for he had struggled much and could help others who were struggling. In 430 Vandals invaded the province. For three months Augustine inspired Christian hope in his people. The he died of a high fever

St. Augustine, pray for us!

MARRIAGE MINUTE- Can you say, "Politically Incorrect?" Does St. Paul really want wives to be "submissive to their husbands?"

Let's take a look at the true meaning of this phrase. "Submissive" means to be "under the mission of," and St. Paul tells husbands that their mission is to "love their wives as Christ loved the Church." Considering that Christ loved the Church by laying his life down for her, this is a mission most wives can get behind when we understand it outside of today's politically-charged climate. To be mutually submissive simply means that both spouses put the good of their marriage ahead of themselves. A marriage that lives out Ephesians 5 is filled with: • Tender respect • Constant affirmation • Intimate communication • Shared responsibility • Enduring joy For greater understanding on this topic, read a good book on the Theology of the Body like The Good News about Sex and Marriage by Christopher West.

RETREAT OPPORTUNITY

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

Decision making is difficult, so difficult that bookstore shelves are bursting with management books offering tools on how to make necessary decisions in a timely manner. Some have built an entire career on helping others move through the decision-making process. Yet with all this help, when it comes to making spiritual decisions that have life shaping magnitude there is really very little available, except spiritually reworked secular tools. Perhaps this is so because these life-changing decisions are more a decision of the heart than of the head. After all, how reasonable is it, humanly speaking, to decide to follow Jesus if it is going to require your life? And whether we are called to be actual martyrs or not, Jesus asks nothing less than our life. On July 17, 1794, sixteen innocent Carmelite nuns were asked to make just such a decision. Instructed by the terrorists of the French Revolution's Reign of Terror, to abandon their religious habits and religious calling they decided, not to do so, but to follow their Lord. This unwillingness to abandon their faith and deny their Lord resulted in these nuns being declared enemies of society, arrested, tried, and led to the guillotine to be sacrificed on the altar of political correctness. It is reported that they went to their deaths singing Psalm 117, "Extol Him all you people! For great is His steadfast love toward us and the faithfulness of the Lord endures forever. Praise the Lord!" Theirs was not a spur of the moment decision but the natural, or rather supernatural, outworking of an earlier decision in their lives to give themselves to Jesus, heart and soul. The disciples are faced with a similar decision in this week's Gospel reading. As we have seen in the last two weeks, Jesus confronted those who were following him with just two alternatives; either he is God living among them, Emmanuel, or he isn't; either he is the only means of salvation, or he isn't; either they believe and receive him, as demonstrated by their receiving his flesh and blood, or they totally reject him. Jesus offered no third choice, it was either/or. Do not be deceived, the people knew that acceptance of Jesus in this way meant a total break from the religious norm and that for many it would result in ostracism, persecution, and martyrdom. Though at this time we live in a country where the results of choosing to be Jesus' follower are less severe for most of us, the decision is no less demanding. We don't have a third choice of simply choosing to be a morally good religious person. The decision Jesus calls for is still total identification with him and abandonment to him as our only God, our only means of salvation, and our only source of life. This is a decision which does not simply deal with ideas, but with the outworking of these truths in sacrificial living. Some foolishly put off making this decision, planning to make this necessary decision later in life. In the meantime, they plan on being their own god, calling the shots in their life, and living as they please. Bishop Sheen tells of just such a man who lived as he wanted, claiming that on his death bed he could cry three magic words, "Lord have mercy!" and be saved in the end. Well, he did get his three last words, but they were different than he supposed, for as his horse threw him over a cliff to his death he was heard to proclaim, "I'll be damned!"<sup>1</sup> This is the hour of decision, as Joshua said, "Choose this day whom you will serve." "From the outset, conversion is expressed in faith which is total and radical, and which neither limits nor hinders God's gift. At the same time, it gives rise to a dynamic and lifelong process which demands a continual turning away from the 'life according to the flesh' to 'life according to the Spirit,' (cf Rom. 8:3-13). Conversion means accepting by a personal decision the saving sovereignty of Christ and becoming his disciple."
