The Third Sunday of Easter

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples for Jesus

MAY IS MARY'S MONTH

As the Mother of God, the Virgin Mary has a unique position among the saints, indeed, among all creatures. She is exalted, yet still one of us.

Redeemed by reason of the merits of her Son and united to Him by a close and indissoluble tie, she is endowed with the high office and dignity of being the Mother of the Son of God, by which account she is also the beloved daughter of the Father and the temple of the Holy Spirit. Because of this gift of sublime grace she far surpasses all creatures, both in heaven and on earth. At the same time, however, because she belongs to the offspring of Adam she is one with all those who are to be saved. Mary embraces God's will and freely chooses to cooperate with God's grace, thereby fulfilling a crucial role in God's plan of salvation. Throughout the centuries, the Church has turned to the Blessed Virgin in order to come closer to Christ. Many forms of piety toward the Mother of God developed that help bring us closer to her Son. In these devotions to Mary, "while the Mother is honored, the Son, through whom all things have their being and in whom it has pleased the Father that all fullness should dwell, is rightly known, loved and glorified and . . . all His commands are observed." The Church honors her as the Mother of God, looks to her as a model of perfect discipleship, and asks for her prayers to God on our behalf.

The Memorare

Remember, O most gracious Virgin Mary that never was it known that anyone who fled to your protection, implored your help, or sought your intercession was left unaided. Inspired by this confidence, I fly to you O Virgin of Virgins, my mother. To You I come; before you I stand sinful and sorrowful. O Mother of the Word Incarnate, despise not my petitions, but in your mercy, hear and answer me. Amen.

MARRIAGE MINUTE

We spend a good percentage of our lives working out practical household details: Who is driving? How do we fix that? This weekend, the disciples are dealing with a dispute in the community, and, like us, they came up with a very practical solution. Our faith is deep and rich, but sometimes, the Holy Spirit answers our prayers with simple problem-solving. Could your marriage use some similar strategies? - A means of communicating feelings in a safe way that will bring you closer. - A powerful way to break a habit of criticism. - A process to heal hurts quickly and effectively (without making them worse!). - A way to make decisions while preserving a tender atmosphere. We teach these skills in Every Day in Love! Register now for June: www.archkck.org/ everyday

Feast of St. Isidore - Christ's Peace House of Prayer is hosting a special Mass and blessing of seed and soil for the Feast of St. Isidore, the patron saint of farmers, on May 15th. The day will begin with Mass at 11am followed by a procession to the Saint Isidore Shrine and a blessing of the seeds and soil. Bring seeds and soil in a small decorated basket to be placed at the altar for blessing. The day will conclude with lunch and fellowship. All are welcome! RSVP 913-773-8255 or info@christspce.com.

Teaching Positions - St. Gregory Catholic School is seeking qualified teachers for the following Part Time positions PE Teacher, Art/Library Teacher, and Title I Instructor for the upcoming 2019/20 school year. For details or questions about these positions, please contact principal, Karen Farrell at 562-2831 or through e-mail at kfarrell@stgregorychurch.org. Interested applicants need to complete the teacher application process online at www.archkckcs.org.

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

This week's Gospel Reading tells of Jesus' third appearance to the disciples after his resurrection. The first and second appearances were recorded in the passage we reflected on in last week's Gospel Reading. In the first post-resurrection appearance Jesus breathes on his disciples the Holy Spirit and gives them the Great Commission. In the second post-resurrection appearance he dispels Thomas' doubts and welcomes him into a full faith. This third appearance which we read about this week re-emphasizes Jesus' power and authority, it re-institutes the basis of communion, and re-affirms the command to "follow me." Seven disciples, Peter, Nathanael, the two sons of Zebedee, Thomas and two others, return from an unsuccessful night of fishing just as the sun is rising. As they near shore they encounter a man who calls to them and tells them to cast the net on the right side of the fishing boat, which they do. Surely, there must have been something unusual and commanding about Jesus for these tired fishermen to pay any attention to him. Having been raised in Maine near the harbor, I can assure you that if you or I stood on the shore and similarly instructed tired professional fisherman who had spent the early hours in fishing failure, how to fish we would quickly discover how little attention would be given to us. But Peter and the disciples did as they were instructed and surprisingly hauled in a potentially net-breaking catch of 153 large fish. The significance of this event was immediately obvious. John instantly recognized that it was Jesus, and Peter knowing who had orchestrated this miracle dove into the water and swam to shore, abandoning everything to once again experience Jesus' presence. Jesus was recognized by the power and authority that resides in him. Previously, the last meal they ate with Jesus was the Passover meal which he hosted for them on the night in which he was betrayed. We must keep in mind that Jesus was betrayed not only by Judas' notorious act, but also the notorious abandonment of Jesus by all his disciples, though John later stood with him at the cross. It was there in that upper room, that Jesus prepared a meal within the meal, for he took the common bread and wine of the Passover meal and offered it as the meal of his body and blood, the body and blood of a new and everlasting covenant for the forgiveness of sins. Surely, experiencing a little bit of residual guilt, the disciples must have rejoiced to see on the shore that their Lord had prepared another meal for them, provided the substance of the meal, and invited them to partake. As he broke the bread and distributed it to them how they must have rejoiced remembering that previous meal and the assurance of forgiveness. In spite of past sins and failures communion with Jesus was possible on the basis of his provision and grace. Then the focus uncomfortably shifts to Peter. We wonder if Jesus did not detect in Peter doubts regarding the full extent of Jesus' forgiveness toward him. Luke's Gospel tells us Jesus warned Peter, "Simon, Simon, behold, Satan demanded to have you, that he might sift you like wheat, but I have prayed for you that your faith may not fail; and when you have turned again, strengthen your brethren." Did Peter and the others recall both Jesus' words of warning and the words of hope, or did Peter simply recall in his heart his three-fold denial of Jesus? In any case, Jesus three times asks Peter the same question, "Do you love me?" With each assurance by Peter Jesus affirmingly replies, "Feed my sheep." Jesus further assures Peter of the significance of his future contribution by indicating how Peter would die in service to God's glory. Lastly, Jesus said to Peter, "Follow me," once again offering to Peter a lifetime of companionship as he fulfills Jesus' call to follow him. Communion was now complete for Peter, forgiveness fully experienced, and purpose fully restored. No doubt we can see ourselves in the lives of these ordinary men who became

Apostles of the Church. Were they so very much unlike us? No. Rather we find that we have much in common with them. We too have tasted the joy of Jesus' fellowship. We too have denied him, all too frequently. He also offers us forgiveness and a lifetime of companionship. He too calls to us, "Follow me." Consequently, these events in their lives were written for our example that we might learn from them and follow their Lord, and ours, with our whole heart.
