The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples for Jesus

The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

Today's celebration of the Body and Blood of the Lord originated in the Diocese of Liege in 1246 as the feast of Corpus Christi. In the reforms of Vatican II, Corpus Christi was joined with the feast of the Precious Blood (July 1) to become the Solemnity of the Body and Blood of the Lord. We celebrate today Christ's gift of the Eucharist, the source and summit of our life together as the Church. The Council of Trent (1545 to 1563), declared that we must honor Our Lord Jesus Christ in the Holy Eucharist publicly so that those who observed the faith of Catholics in the Most Holy Eucharist might be attracted to the Eucharistic Lord and believe in the Divinity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, present in this great Sacrament. "The Catholic Church teaches that in the Eucharist, the Body and Blood of the God-man are really, truly, substantially, and abidingly present together with his soul and divinity by reason of the Transubstantiation of the bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ. This takes place in the unbloody sacrifice of the Mass" (Council of Trent, 1551; CCC # 1374, note 200)

The Biblical founda- tion: Our belief in this Real Presence of Jesus in the Holy Eucharist derives from the literal interpretation of the promise of Christ to give us his Body and Blood for our spiritual food and drink, as found in St. John's Gospel, Chapter 6, and also in the four independent accounts of the fulfillment of this promise at the Last Supper (Mt 26; Mk 14; Lk 22; 1 Cor 11). Eucharistic theologians explain the Real Presence by a process called transubstantiation: the entire substance of bread and wine is changed into the entire substance of the risen and glorified Body and Blood of Christ, retaining only the "accidents" (taste, color, shape) of bread and wine. Can there be a religion in which God is closer to man than our Catholic Christianity? Jesus does not believe that he is humiliating himself in coming to us and giving himself to us in his Flesh and Blood; rather, he is expressing his everlasting love for us.

We need to prepare properly to receive Holy Communion: We have tarnished God's image within us through acts of impurity, injustice, disobedience and the like. Hence, there is always need for repentance, and a need for the Sacramental confession of grave sins, before we receive Holy Communion. We should remember the warning given by St. Paul: "Whoever, therefore, eats the Bread or drinks the Cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be answerable for the Body and Blood of the Lord. Examine yourselves, and only then eat of the Bread and drink of the Cup. For all who eat and drink without discerning the Body, eat and drink judgment against themselves." (1 Cor. 11:27-9). Hence, let us receive Holy Communion with fervent love and respect -- not merely as a matter of routine.

MARRIAGE MINUTE Spouses! This week have you:

- Completed chores around the house?
- Listened to your spouse?
- Shown affection for your spouse?
- Made any other small sacrifice that “cost you?”

If you have, you have done a great job preparing for this weekend’s feast of the Body and Blood of Christ. Though it can seem like a stretch to compare the sacraments of the Eucharist and Matrimony, they actually have a lot in common. In fact, St. Augustine said, “Matrimony is the sacrament most like the Eucharist because of the self-donation involved.” If this is true, we should expect an elevated reverence for Married couples in the same way we expect respect for the Eucharist. To prioritize your Sacrament, go to www.JoyfulMarriageProject.com

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

The last verse of this week's Gospel Reading says, "And they took up what was left over, twelve baskets of broken pieces." The reference to broken pieces reminds me of an incident that happened during Lent a few years ago. At our parish during Lent, the people responsible for the liturgical decorations strategically placed cracked and broken clay pots among the floral decorations to remind us of our brokenness. A friend's granddaughter, about six years old, was sitting near the front of the church and upon observing the broken pots lying about, turned to her granddad and said, "Granddad, this place is a mess!" Well sometimes our brokenness certainly is a mess, but it also can be a source of encouragement and hope when people realize that Jesus receives us in our brokenness, and makes us whole again. Christ's body and blood probably did not appear very attractive either. Sometimes I think we are spoiled by the sophisticated beauty of our gold and silver crucifix jewelry, and are subtly deceived into minimizing the awfulness of the cross. When once visiting Spain we saw many Santos, statues used in religious processions, and a lot of Spanish art depicting Jesus' sacrifice. Many of them made us cringe due to their vivid and gory depictions, and rightly so. Christ's death for us was a brutalization of his body and the spilling of his real blood. The rebuffs of the palace guards were not merely verbal affronts, but they rendered real physical blows on his body that bruised and battered our Lord. The crown of thorns fashioned for him to wear was made of real, long, flesh piercing thorns that provided a crown of pain pushed forcibly into the flesh of his scalp. The nails were real. The next time you are in a hardware store go to the nail bins and pick up and handle some of the spikes. Pick up spikes large enough to pierce through a man's hands and feet, and to go deep enough into the wood to hold the person upright on a piece of tree. Realize that similar spikes, though less slender and sophisticated, were forcefully driven through our Lord's body, pounded again, and again, and again, until the nails were securely imbedded in the log. Imagine the jolt and tearing of the flesh as the cross was raised and dropped into the posthole. It was gory! It should make us cringe. No matter how unpleasant the scene may be in our minds, or how long the image lingers there, we must be able to envision it to return some semblance of reality to what it cost our Lord to secure our salvation. His was a battered, bruised and bloodied body that hung and died on the cross. The Scripture says in Hebrews 9:22, "Indeed, under the law almost everything is purified with blood, and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sins." So Jesus shed it all. We would do well to devote more time to reflecting on Jesus' sacrifice. Though salvation is free it is not priceless, it cost a heavy price. Continued meditation on Christ's Holy Body and Blood gives us an accurate understanding of what our salvation cost Jesus. From that understanding comes a proper response of gratitude, devotion, and commitment. "It was necessary that it be this way. How else could he have borne the totality of the world's sin? He had to bear all that the world did to him, and all the consequences of all the crimes of all time, of which what we did to him is the chief." (from Death on a Friday Afternoon, by Fr. R. J. Neuhaus) The little girl's comments could have referred to the world's spiritual and moral condition, "This place is a mess!" It certainly is, and the Holy Body and Blood of Jesus Christ is the remedy for healing and putting the pieces of our lives back together.
