The Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Growing as Disciples of Jesus, Making Disciples for Jesus

The Transfiguration of Jesus August 6th

The transfiguration of Jesus is an event reported in the New Testament when Jesus is transfigured and becomes radiant in glory upon a mountain. The Gospels (Matthew 17:1-8, Mark 9:2-8, Luke 9:28-36) describe it, and the Second Epistle of Peter also refers to it (2 Peter 1:16-18). It has also been hypothesized that the first chapter of the Gospel of John alludes to it (John 1:14).

In these accounts, Jesus and three of his apostles, Peter, James, John, go to a mountain (the Mount of Transfiguration) to pray. On the mountain, Jesus begins to shine with bright rays of light. Then the prophets Moses and Elijah appear next to him and he speaks with them. Jesus is then called "Son" by a voice in the sky, assumed to be God the Father, as in the Baptism of Jesus.

The transfiguration is one of the miracles of Jesus in the Gospels. This miracle is unique among others that appear in the canonical gospels, in that the miracle happens to Jesus himself. Thomas Aquinas considered the transfiguration "the greatest miracle" in that it complemented baptism and showed the perfection of life in Heaven. The transfiguration is one of the five major milestones in the gospel narrative of the life of Jesus, the others being baptism, crucifixion, resurrection, and ascension. In 2002, Pope John Paul II introduced the Luminous Mysteries in the rosary, which includes the transfiguration.

In Christian teachings, the transfiguration is a pivotal moment, and the setting on the mountain is presented as the point where human nature meets God: the meeting place of the temporal and the eternal, with Jesus himself as the connecting point, acting as the bridge between heaven and earth. Moreover, Christians consider the transfiguration to fulfill an Old Testament messianic prophecy that Elijah would return again after his ascension (Malachi 4:5-6).

The Franciscan Church of the Transfiguration on Mount Tabor is in Israel. Mount Tabor is traditionally identified as the Mount of Transfiguration.

Marriage Minute- Have you and your spouse ever argued about money, like the brothers in this week's Gospel? Here are some ideas for becoming more “rich in what matters to God.” • Share your feelings about money: How do you feel when you think about debt? Money in savings? An unexpected expense? • Share your values about money: Why do you think it's important to save for retirement? Purchase a specific item or service? • Get financial guidance: Learn together from a great resource like Dave Ramsey or Compass Catholic Ministries. • Make money decisions together: Decide together how you will earn, spend and save money. Ask yourselves, “Is this plan in the best interest of our marriage?” To learn how to do these suggestions, check out Every Day in Love, www.archkck.org/everyday

Reflecting On Sunday's Readings

Perhaps no other passage in Scripture confronts the philosophy of America more, than does this week's Gospel Reading; "a man's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions." America's culture, impacted by the business of advertising, and sped along through the means of mass media, has sold the majority of Americans a false bill of goods. Whether it is the poor and disenfranchised seeking to make a dollar, legally or illegally, or the multi-billionaire endeavoring to make another billion, ethically or unethically, the majority of people believe that, "If I had the money to buy what I need and want, I would be happy." Sadly, most of Jesus' followers have also succumbed to this deception and subscribe to this vain philosophy. It does not take an unusually astute observer of life to note that this philosophy is a lie. Some of the most wealthy of our society demonstrate by their dysfunctional lifestyles that possessions do not satisfy and wealth does not secure happiness. When they die, and they all do, and people ask, "How much did he leave?" the answer is always the same, "He left it all." This week's first reading points out the futility of living a life for things. After all the work, pain, and unbridled ambition to accumulate has ended, all that was accumulated is divided between the government and the heirs, many of whom would give it all up for a better relationship with the person who left it. The funerals for these people are always sad, reflecting the vanity of their lives, and an empty eternity. Unfortunately, it is not only the wealthy that end on this sad note. Someone has rightly said, "Our life does not consist in what we possess, but in what (or who) possesses us." The believer in Christ, who is possessed by a deep and sincere love for Jesus, and a passion to serve him, stands out in sharp contrast to this culture of self and greed. Some believers spend their lives refuting this philosophy by abandoning the time and energy it takes to pursue the accumulation of things. Instead they give themselves to serving God and people, and promoting a life of peace, purpose and joy through knowing and serving Christ. Having set their hearts on the things of Christ they look forward to the next life as a place of spiritual reward that makes the possessions of this world look paltry. Their funerals, attended by those whose lives they have touched, are always a joyful celebration of meaningful relationships. Such a celebration is foreign and unimaginable to the people enslaved to the pursuit of happiness through possessions, yet, they look with longing at the peace and joy of those being celebrated. Two very strong phrases are used in this week's Scriptures, and they beg a response from us. The first from Ecclesiastes is "All is vanity," the second from Jesus in Luke's Gospel is, "But God said to him, 'Fool!'" Will we be a fool and give our life to the vanity of accumulating possessions and in the end have neither possession in this life, nor treasures in the life to come. If not, to what (to whom) shall we give our life, and how shall we lay up treasures in the life to come? "When the Word is choked, it is not merely due to the thorns as such, but to the negligence of those allowing them to spring up. There is a way, if there is a will, to hinder evil growth and use wealth appropriately. For this reason, he warned not of 'the world' but of the 'cares of the world'; not 'riches' as such but 'the deceitfulness of riches.' Let us not place the blame on what we possess but on our own corrupt mind. For it is possible to be rich and not be deceived. It is possible to be in this world, and not be choked with its cares. For indeed riches have two contrary disadvantages; one, anxiety over them, wearing us out, and spreading darkness over us; and the other, luxury, which makes us soft..." (from Chrysostom in Ancient Christian Commentary on Scripture; Vol II)
