Family Prayer

Lord, bless our family, all of us now together, those far away, all who are gone back to you. May we know joy. May we bear our sorrows in patience. Let us be grateful to each other. We have all made each other what we are. O Family of Jesus, watch over our family.

Amen.

FRANCIS: GYPSIES ARE ONE OF THE GROUPS MOST VULNERABLE TO NEW FORMS OF SLAVERY

Vatican City, 5 June 2014 (VIS) – “New civil, cultural and social approaches, and a new pastoral strategy for the Church” against “modern forms of persecution, oppression and slavery” are necessary to face the situation of gypsies throughout the world, said Pope Francis during this morning's audience with the participants in the meeting “The Church and gypsies: proclaiming the Gospel in the peripheries”, organized by the Pontifical Council for the Pastoral Care of Migrants and Itinerant Peoples.

The theme of the meeting, said Francis, involves “the memory of a relationship, that between the ecclesiastical community and the gypsy population, the history of a journey to get to know each other, to encounter one another; and then the challenge for today, a challenge that regards both ordinary pastoral care and new evangelization”.

He commented that often gypsies find themselves on the margins of society, “and at times are looked upon with hostility and suspicion; they are rarely involved in the political, economic and social dynamics of the country”. He continued, “We know that it is a complex reality, but certainly the gypsy population is also required to contribute to the common good, and this is possible with adequate itineraries of co-responsibility, the observance of duties and the promotion of the rights of every person”.

He observed that among the causes of misery among various sectors of the population there are factors such as “a lack of educational structures for cultural and professional formation, the difficulty of access to healthcare, discrimination in the employment market and a lack of decent accommodation”. He added that while these social ills affect everyone, “the weakest groups are those who most easily become victims of new forms of slavery. Indeed, the least protected are those who fall into the trap of abuse, forced begging and other forms of abuse. Gypsies are among the most vulnerable, especially those who are receive no help in relation to integration or the promotion of the person in the various dimensions of civil life”.

The care of the Church is relevant here: “Indeed, the Gospel is the proclamation of joy for all and especially for the weakest and most marginalized. We are called upon to ensure our closeness and solidarity to these people, following the example of Jesus Christ, who demonstrated His Father's predilection for them”. However, alongside this united action in favor of the gypsy population, there needs to be “commitment on the part of local and national institutions and the support of the international community, to identify projects and action for improving quality of life”.

The Holy Father concluded by urging the Pontifical Council to continue in its task and not to be discouraged, adding, “May gypsies find in you brothers and sisters who love them with the same love that Christ had for the marginalized. Be, for them, the welcoming and joyful face of the Church”.

To all those ministering with the Young Church of Dallas,

I saw this article in the Vatican News Service today and it made me think

I invite all of us to ‘read between the lines’ and consider all of the marginalized group and individuals in our society.

How well are we being the welcoming and joyful face of the Church for them?

The Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity, Cycle A

John 3:16-18

God sent his Son into the world to save the world.

This week we return to the liturgical season of Ordinary Time. This Sunday and next, however, are designated as solemnities—special days that call our attention to central mysteries of our faith. Today on Trinity Sunday we celebrate the mystery of the Holy Trinity, one God in three persons.

Today's Gospel is from the beginning of John's Gospel. The passage we read follows Jesus' conversation with a Pharisee, Nicodemus, about what it means to be born of both water and the spirit. Nicodemus approaches Jesus at night and acknowledges Jesus as a teacher from God. Jesus tells him that only those who are born from above will see the Kingdom of God. Nicodemus misunderstands and questions how a person can be born more than once. Jesus tells Nicodemus that no one can enter the Kingdom of God without being born of water and Spirit. Jesus is essentially explaining Baptism, which we celebrate as a sacrament today. Yet Nicodemus, we are told, still does not understand what Jesus is saying. Jesus continues by testifying to the need to be born from above so that one might have eternal life.

Under the Influence of Jesus!

By Joe Paprocki

Imagine how you would feel if someone stepped into your life, paid off all of your debts, and set up a line of credit for you to draw from for the rest of your life!

I know one thing...I'd like this person's business card!

This scenario may sound far-fetched, but in essence, this is what God has done for us, and this is what we celebrate on Pentecost. God not only relieved us of our debt by sending us his only Son Jesus who died for us and rose from the dead, but he also gave us a renewable source of abundance: the Holy Spirit, who made it possible for the Church to begin and to continue to thrive under the influence of Jesus for over 2000 years!

A Reflection on Fathers

In reflecting on Fathers' Day I realized that no two fathers are alike. Let's see, a father may be: a coach, a friend, a teacher, a dispenser of discipline, a provider, a counselor, a comforter, an admirer, a confidant and a protector. He may be any or all of these things.

Some of us may not have realized how many things our father was for us until he was gone and we had to say to a tombstone what we wished we had said when he was still here. My, how our priorities can get mixed up.

Of course, if we are fortunate enough to have our father with us, Fathers' Day is a good time to think about what he is to us and let him know how much we appreciate his love, understanding, patience and even mercy. He will value hearing that and a hug much more than a new tie. Interesting, isn't it that all the things a father may be are also the attributes of God. Could be that's why we call him Father.

I thank all fathers, living and dead, for their unselfish love and sacrifice and ask a special blessing on them this Fathers' Day. By Bishop Kevin J. Farrell

Reflexión en el Día del Padre

Al reflexionar acerca del Día del Padre me he dado cuenta que no hay dos padres iguales. Un padre puede ser un entrenador, un amigo, un maestro, un disciplinario, un proveedor, un consejero, un consolador, un admirador, un confidente y un protector, y puede también ser todo esto. Muchas veces no nos damos cuenta de todas las funciones que nuestro padre desempeña en nuestras vidas, sino hasta que se ha marchado para siempre y solo podemos decirle a una fría lápida todo lo que nos hubiese gustado haberle dicho a nuestro padre cuando aún se encontraba entre nosotros. Entonces es que nos damos cuenta lo fácil que resulta confundir nuestras prioridades.

Desde luego, que si somos lo suficientemente afortunados de aun tener a nuestro padre entre nosotros, este Día del Padre nos ofrecerá una excelente oportunidad para meditar en todo lo que él ha sido en nuestra vida y para hacerle saber lo mucho que apreciamos su amor, su comprensión, su paciencia e incluso su misericordia. Seguramente que apreciará mucho más escuchar esto y recibir un fuerte abrazo, que recibir una corbata, una rasuradora o una camisa nueva.

Es interesante darnos cuenta que todas las cosas que un padre puede ser son también los atributos de Dios. Tal vez este es el motivo por el que lo llamamos Padre.

Agradezco a todos los padres de familia, vivos y muertos su amor y sacrificio desinteresado y pido una bendición especial para ellos en este Día del Padre.
