Reflection by Fr. Tom:

In my office I have an Irish batik depicting the scene of Daniel in the lions' den. The scene is taken from a High Cross; this depiction, as well as others, was used to illustrate biblical stories to a people unable to read and it was a tool to form them in their Catholic faith. In my batik, Daniel has his hands in the mouths of the lions but they're not biting him. The head of Daniel has no face facing us so I presume I'm looking at the back of his head. In front of Daniel is the sun. Putting this all together, I interpret the batik as follows: Daniel is able to put his hands into the mouths of the lions as long as he keeps his eyes on the "sun" (i.e. Son = Jesus) but once he removes his eyes from the "sun" (i.e. Son = Jesus) the lions will eat him. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus gives us a vision of the future. As he wrote his Gospel, Luke knew these events already occurred: the temple was destroyed about 15 years earlier, disciples were arrested, families divided, etc. Luke's Jesus doesn't deny these realities but says, "By your perseverance you will secure your lives." "By your perseverance..." In the batik, Daniel keeps his eyes on the Son. The church year is winding down; end times will eventually come. Today's prophet, Malachi, is clear about the trouble to come but, as in the batik, "there will arise the sun of Justice with its healing rays." We must remain focused on the Lord and his work of spreading the Good News of our salvation in Jesus! The task at hand is to do his work, not sit around waiting for another to do it. Paul, in his letter to the Thessalonians, tries to motivate the people to action by referring to his own example of faithful discipleship. They, however, are "unwilling to work" and, with time on their hands, are "not keeping busy but minding the business of others"; some translations will use the term, "busybodies." Time is short. Keep your eyes on Jesus. Use your time wisely to promote the message of salvation in these ends of days.
