

Dear Veterans,

Thank you for your service. You bravely serve during times of peace and war, so that you can protect our lives and our freedom. You have battled on sea, air, cyberspace, and land. To do this, you have to leave your family and friends. I'm sure leaving your home is very difficult. Your family and friends must miss you very much. When you leave, you sacrifice so much and miss out on your family celebrations. It must be difficult not being with your families for baby showers, birthdays, weddings, and graduations. You miss all of these events, to protect our nation. -
Thank you

Thank you for sacrificing your time to serve and protect our country. We know freedom comes at a high cost. Nothing in this world is cheap, yet some things come at too high a price. But still, with all your heart and dedication, you will go to serve and protect us.

We love you all for serving under the red, white, and blue. Thank you for being E pluribus unum. Out of all the people in America, it was you who went and chose to serve us, protect our nation, and keep our freedom. From the bottom of my heart, thank you.

Sincerely,
Iyanuoluwa
