Twenty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Deuteronomy 4:1-2, 6-8; James 1:17-18, 21b-22, 27; Mark 7:1-8, 14-15, 21-23

On the first day of school the young boy or girl learns very quickly what are the rules and regulations of that school. They may or may not be the same from year to year; nonetheless, each year they must be learned anew.

What isn't learned that first day is the matter of which rules are more or less important, and which ones the teacher(s) will enforce more or less strictly. This learning takes a while, but each student learns it in time.

What is also learned in this whole process is some rules are important, but not enforced as such; and some rules are minor but may cause big trouble if they are broken. A spirit of fairness and unfairness is learned; a sense of respect for or disdain for the rules is learned. Much depends on those who make and enforce them whether youngsters develop a good or poor attitude toward "the rules."

One can easily see how this analogy connects to today's gospel passage. Of course there were rules, regulations and traditions in the Jewish religion. This was to be expected. What wasn't to be expected is that petty regulations and superficial rules would take on so much importance in day to day life. The petty leaders used petty regulations to control the lives of others and to make themselves look good. Jesus condemned them soundly. He had every reason for doing so.

Next week's readings:
Isaiah 35:4-7a; James 2:1-5; Mark 7:31-37

I believe God loves the world through us—through you and me.

You either get bitter or you get better. It's that simple. You either take what has been dealt to you and allow it to make you a better person, or you allow it to tear you down. The choice does not belong to fate, it belongs to you.

ACCW Continuing Series on Eucharist: Continuation of "What is the Sacrament of Eucharist called"? Par 1329 of the CCC (Catechism of the Catholic Church) states "Eucharist is also called "The Lord's Supper", because of its connection with the supper which the Lord took with his disciples on the eve of his Passion and because it anticipates the wedding feast of the Lamb in the heavenly Jerusalem". Are you connected to the Lord's Supper?

If someone feels that God wants him to transform social structures, that's an issue between him and his God. We all have the duty to serve God where we feel called. I feel called to help individuals, to love each human being. I never think in terms of crowds in general but in terms of each individual person. Were I to think about crowds, I would never begin anything. It is the person that matters. I believe in person-to-person encounters. Mother Teresa.
