

Technology Statement from Principal:

As the first school in the Diocese of Pittsburgh to adopt a 1:1 iPad program Bishop Canevin takes pride in its ability to provide 21st century technology, instruction, and educational spaces to its students. Recent campus upgrades such as the Nick Sinagra Innovation Lab and Reed Family Broadcast Studio are enhancing what was already a strong STEM academic program. These spaces are equipped with the latest technology necessary to support curriculums in our Engineering, Robotics, and 3D Concepts and Animation courses. Additionally, school pride and community involvement will be enhanced through the establishment of an in-house broadcast studio that will provide Bishop Canevin with the ability to deliver the morning announcements, and promote student activities and achievements in a news style format. Finally, Bishop Canevin is upgrading the technical support through its partnership with Central Integration its technology provider. For the 20-21 school year Bishop Canevin is upgrading to the Google a leading platform that helps make our integration of technology more productive, meaningful, and collaborative.
