Jesus walks and talks with others his whole life. He teaches his disciples. He shares meals with friends and sinners both. He tells his friends to stay close to one another as they share in his risen life.

The most loving gift Jesus gives is his own presence with us. The most loving gift we can give to our child is also the gift of presence. Our children need to spend one-on-one time with us to know that we love them and enjoy being with them.

If you have a packed schedule, as so many parents do, enter dates with your child on your calendar. Then keep those dates as strictly as you would any other important engagement.
