FROM THE PASTORS DESK

Some of you might enjoy the daily devotional offered on The Catholic Company. They are the supplier of religious goods and offer a daily email providing excellent devotions. Below is a sample. Fr Sid

"He who is humble, even though he fall through frailty, soon repents with sorrow and implores the divine assistance to help him to amend; nor is he astonished at having fallen, because he knows that of himself he is only capable of evil and would do far worse if God did not protect him with His grace. After having sinned, it is good to humble oneself before God, and without losing courage, to remain in humility in order not to fall again . . . But to afflict ourselves without measure and to give way to a certain pusillanimous melancholy, which brings us to the verge of despair, is a temptation of pride, insinuated by the devil . . . However upright we may be, we must never be scandalized nor amazed at the conduct of evildoers, nor consider ourselves better than they, because we do not know what is ordained for them or for us in the supreme dispositions of God."

— Rev. Cajetan da Bergamo, p. 56-57, The Humility of Hear
