

Parishioner's Personal Reflection

“Having now been filled and renewed with the Holy Spirit after Pentecost we make time for ourselves in our spiritual garden which becomes our fallow time.

Like our gardens, we prepare the beds for Spring colour, Summer vegetables etc. So we now prepare the spiritual garden of our souls.

This is the time to work on our interpersonal relationships with community and learn from, and give to each other.

A time for listening and sharing with each other.

If we nurture our relationship with our God, we will be able to fulfil the Word of Jesus.

This means emptying oneself of self.
