In the first and the Gospel reading of this week the Church is inviting us to evangelize; God expects us to share the faith in an urgent way. Although Amos is merely a shepherd and caretaker of sycamore trees, God takes him from his flock of sheep and orders, "Go, prophesy."

Why would God take such a simple person to carry out such a task. Consider, however, that many of the apostles were simple fishermen. They weren't great theologians or preachers. Yet, God called them. The same thing we can say about the apostles, whom God sent 2by2 without food nor money.

We can all come up with excuses not to share our faith in God with others. Chief among these excuses is, "I don't know the Bible or Church teachings well enough to share our faith." However, it should be remembered that God does not call the equipped. He equips the called.

By virtue of our Baptism, we have a share in the prophetic nature of Christ. If we claim to be Christian, we must share our faith without any hesitancy. There is an urgency in our call to be Christian prophets of faith. The Gospel needs to be proclaimed; especially today.

What holds you back from sharing in the prophetic nature of Christ?

Nuestra primera lectura nos muestra cómo Dios espera que compartamos la fe de manera urgente. Aunque Amós es simplemente un pastor y cuidador de árboles de sicómoro, Dios lo quita de su rebaño de ovejas y le ordena, "Ve y profetiza".

¿Por qué tomaría Dios una persona tan simple para llevar a cabo tal tarea. Considera, sin embargo, que muchos de los apóstoles eran pescadores simples. No eran grandes teólogos o predicadores. Sin embargo, Dios los llamó.

Todos podemos encontrar excusas por las que no debemos compartir nuestra fe en Dios con los demás. La principal de estas excusas es "No conozco la Biblia o las enseñanzas de la Iglesia lo suficientemente bien para compartir nuestra fe." Sin embargo, se debe recordar que Dios no llama al equipado. Él equipa a los llamados.

En virtud de nuestro Bautismo, tenemos una participación en la naturaleza profética de Cristo. Si reclamamos ser Cristianos, debemos compartir nuestra fe sin ninguna vacilación. Hay una urgencia en nuestra llamada a ser profetas Cristianos de la fe. El Evangelio necesita ser proclamado; especialmente hoy.

El Papa pide rezar en julio por la construcción del diálogo y la amistad social

El Santo Padre, a través de El Video del Papa, centra su mirada en el diálogo como "camino para mirar la realidad de una manera nueva, para vivir con pasión los desafíos de la construcción del bien común" y pide frenar la polarización que nos divide. Por ello, invita a rezar para que en nuestras sociedades ya "no queden espacios de enemistad y de guerra".
