

MRS. LYNCH'S WEEKLY MASS ANNOUNCEMENT

We haven't been together here, as a whole family, for a long time.

We are able to gather together today, celebrating the Ascension of our Lord, because you have acted as Protectors of one another, and by extension, Protectors of your families, of those you love.

Thank you for making my mission, your mission, and therefore our mission.

We have a short time left, just a couple of weeks, to complete this year's mission.

Don't let up.

Study and work even harder in your classrooms, and at home.

Be kind and extra protective of your classmates, so they can take a positive feeling with them into this summer.

Everyday, I tell people about your accomplishments, how you have worked together, and how proud I am of each of you.

Be sure that you and your brothers and sisters here today, in person, and in spirit, succeed.

I'll see you at the finish line.
