PRINCIPALS' WEEKLY MASS ANNOUNCEMENT

Everyone is trying to convince you of something.

Your parents, your families, your teachers, your coaches, they all want you to succeed.

But there are others, who don't want the best for you. They want you to blindly follow what they say, their suggestions, their challenges.

Not long ago, it was easier to protect you from these negative influences.

Now, they can get direct access to you, through your devices, your games, your apps and quite unsocial media.

You are having to deal with these negative influences at a much younger age.

They show you something which is not usually real, and tell you to do things, which are not good for you.

Look around at one another, everyone you see here is a part of your extended family. They are real.

Those who care about you have taught you the difference between what is right, and what is wrong. You know.

Do not let these negative outside influences control your actions. Be as strong as we know you are. We believe in you...
