

FATHER'S DAY PRAYER

God, Our Father and generous Creator, we implore Your abundant blessing upon our Dads and Grandfathers. We ask that Your Spirit may inspire them to be the very image of Love for their sons and daughters. We entrust our Grandfathers and Dads who have already died, to Your Merciful and Sacred Heart. We ask this through the Risen Jesus who lives and reigns forever and ever. AMEN.

Dios Padre, autor generoso de la Creación, imploramos tu bendición abundante sobre nuestros padres y abuelos. Te pedimos que Tu Espíritu les inspire a ser para todos sus hijos e hijas la imagen misma del Amor que eres Tu. A nuestros abuelitos y papas que ya murieron, los encomendamos a Tu Misericordioso y Sagrado Corazón. Te pedimos esto por medio de Jesucristo Resucitado que vive y reina por los siglos de los siglos. AMEN.

Reflexiones del domingo

Romanos 5:1-5
PUEDE HACER

Muchos de nosotros intentamos ocultar nuestras aflicciones. Si nos duele, no queremos que la gente sepa. Si estamos enfermos, no queremos que se corra la voz. No queremos llamar la atención. Preferimos mantener la ilusión de que estamos bien, y otros no deben preocuparse.

Qué extraño es entonces escuchar a Pablo decir a los cristianos: "Incluso nos jactamos de nuestras aflicciones". Para Pablo, sus aflicciones simplemente fueron para mostrar cuán fuerte era el poder de Dios. Dios podría trabajar a través de las aflicciones humanas de la manera milagrosa en que alguien en silla de ruedas puede ganar una carrera, alguien que no puede ver puede preparar la cena, alguien con pérdida auditiva todavía puede escribir música, y alguien con una enfermedad terminal puede enseñar e inspirar. A veces, la aflicción en sí misma se convierte en un medio para mostrar cuán poderosa es realmente la fuerza interior de uno.

En el caso de Pablo, las aflicciones eran obstáculos colocados en el camino de su predicación del evangelio. La palabra de Dios todavía fue capaz de difundirse a pesar de estos contratiempos. En consecuencia, dice Paul, "la aflicción produce resistencia, y la resistencia, el carácter comprobado y el carácter comprobado, la esperanza y la esperanza no decepcionan".

Pablo nunca se decepciona porque la Santísima Trinidad lo cuida. Él tiene paz con Dios a través de Jesucristo, y el amor de Dios se ha derramado en él a través del Espíritu Santo. No es de extrañar que pudiera presumir de aflicciones.

Sunday's Reflections

Romans 5:1-5

CAN DO

A lot of us try to hide our afflictions. If we hurt, we don't want people to know. If we're sick, we don't want word to get out. We don't want to attract attention. We prefer to keep the illusion that we are well, and others need not be concerned.

How strange it is then to hear Paul say of Christians, "We even boast of our afflictions." To Paul, his afflictions merely went to show how strong the power of God was. God could work through human afflictions in the miraculous way that someone in a wheelchair can still win a race, one who cannot see can still cook dinner, someone with hearing loss can still write music, and someone terminally ill can still teach and inspire. Sometimes the affliction itself becomes a means of showing how mighty one's inner strength really is.

In Paul's case, the afflictions were obstacles placed in the way of his preaching the gospel. The word of God was still able to spread in spite of these setbacks. Consequently, Paul says, "affliction produces endurance, and endurance, proven character, and proven character, hope, and hope does not disappoint."

Paul is never disappointed because the Holy Trinity takes care of him. He has peace with God through Jesus Christ, and the love of God has been poured out into him through the Holy Spirit. No wonder he could boast of afflictions.
