Dear Friends of Godsplaining,

It’s been a year and a half since we launched the podcast on August 8, 2019. Our goal was simple: to inject something of God and his grace into the clamor of everyday life.

Today Godsplaining has been played over 325,000 times. We continue to grow, reaching new listeners every week. In fact, in the last two weeks, we have had 20,000 plays!

One listener wrote to us this fall saying, “I started listening a couple of weeks ago and have been making my way through all of the episodes. It has become part of my morning routine to sit with a coffee while the rest of the house is still asleep and listen to a pair of Dominicans chatting. I can’t tell you how much joy it brings me. Thank you.”

This Christmas we want to thank you for your support of the podcast. Our mission is to illuminate Christ’s saving work: this is our life’s vocation as preachers. Your generosity makes our faithfulness to our vocation possible.

May God reward your kindness!

In Christ, the Newborn King,
The Godsplaining Friars
