

The tragedy of having an abortion doesn't end with the termination of the child's life. The tragedy is forever a piece of me, of my life. It's even a piece of the life of the others that were touched by my experience. I am forever detrimentally changed, forever pained, forever longing for my child. There is an emptiness that cannot be filled in this lifetime.