

There was a gentle rain on the day I met with Father for confession. When I left our meeting, the softness of the rain on my face was like a caress...I was clean again as on the day of my Baptism.