

This is the very first Christmas since 1973 that a deep pain inside of me, an emotional pain, has disappeared. I also realize that it didn't actually "disappear". God took it away from me. Without Project Rachel, your care and your love, I could never have let God in to forgive me. Last year, the retreat was pretty new to me, so I really didn't feel the way I do this Christmas. This is how Project Rachel has been working on me, in the "long term" effect. It truly is God's love healing me and it is beautiful.
