From the Pastor

Series on the Mass, Part 37: The Canon: Communicantes

The Communicantes prayer is the commemoration of the Communion of the Saints, beginning with the glorious Mary, ever virgin Mother of God. She gave to our Savior His body, which was offered on the Cross for our salvation, and she is mentioned in many of the prayers during the Mass (Confiteor, Suscipe Sancta Trinitas, Libera). She is the Mother of God, as confirmed by the Council of Ephesus in 431, and was present at the foot of the Cross, so the Church keeps her present in the Canon of the Mass where the sacrifice of Calvary is made present again.

In 1962, Pope John XXIII added the name of St. Joseph to this prayer. St. Joseph was the foster father of our Lord, exercising the rights and duties of a father in the name of God. After St. Joseph, we mention the twelve Apostles and twelve martyrs, including the three first successors of St. Peter, i.e., Sts. Linus (79), Cletus (89) and Clement (97). There follows two other Popes, Sts. Sixtus II (258) and Cornelius (253). After this are mentioned seven other martyrs. The martyrs were conformed to our Lord in dying as a witness to Him, so they have an important place in the Canon to remind us of the sacrifices we should be making to join ourselves to Christ.

The beginning of the Communicantes prayer changes for some of the important feasts of the liturgical year: Christmas, Epiphany, Easter, Ascension and Pentecost. These variations help us to see how these feasts are attached to the passion and death of our Lord.

Sincerely in Christ,

Rev. Charles Van Vliet, FSSP

November: Month Dedicated to Poor Souls

Sun.-Sun., Nov. 1-8, Plenary indulgence, applicable only to the Poor Souls in Purgatory, is granted to those who visit a cemetery and pray, even if only mentally, for the departed, provided the usual conditions are met. For All Souls Day, a plenary indulgence for Poor Souls will be granted to those who visit a parish church or oratory and recite one Our Father and one Credo (visit to cemetery is not required). More about the indulgence is on the parish website.
