

Interview the Interviewer

Your interviewer is not the only one looking for information. You are trying to decide whether or not this position is a good fit for you as well. Here are some questions you can ask, which have the added benefit of presenting you as proactive and interested.

- Tell me about the job.
- What characteristics would make a person successful in this position?
- What are some of the challenges I would face?
- What are some of the accomplishments you would expect the successful candidate to make in the first year?
- What kind of training and/or development will I receive?
- Tell me about some of the people that I would be working with?
- What excites you about this job?
- What is your background?
- What is the career path for this position?
- Do you have any further questions about my qualifications?
- What's the next step?